SOMETHING NEW.

BY CHARLES SWAIN.

There's not a cheaper thing on earth,
Nor yet one half so dear;
'Tis worth more than distinguish'd birth,
Or thousands gain' a year:
It lends the day a new delight;
'Tis virtue's firmest shield;
And adds more beauty to the night,
Then all the stars may yield.

It maketh poverty content,
To sorrow whispers peace;
It is a gift from heaven sent
For mortals to increase:
It meets you with a smile at morn;
It lulls you to repose;
A flower for peer and peasant born,
An everlasting rose.

A charm to banish grief away,
To snatch the frown from care;
Turn tears to smiles, make dullness gay—
Spread gladness everywhere,
And yet 'tis cheap as summer dew,
That gems the lily's breast:
A talisman for love as true
As ever man possess'd.

As smiles the rainbow through the cloud,
When threat'ning storm begins—
As music 'mid the tempest loud,
That still its sweet way wins—
As spring an arch across the tide,
Where waves conflicting foam,
So comes this seraph to our side,
This angel of our home,

What may this wondrous spirit be,
With power unheard before—
This charm, this bright divinity?
GOOD TEMPER—nothing more!
Good Temper 'tis the choicest gift
That Woman homeward brings;
And can the poorest peasant lift
To bliss, unknown to kings!

From the Boston Olive Branch.

THE LITTLE PAUPER.

The day was gloomy and chill. At the freshly opened grave stood a little delicate girl of five years, the only mourner for the silent heart beneath. Friendless, hopeless, homeless, she had wept till she had no more tears to shed, and now she stood with her scanty clothing fluttering in the chill wind, pressing her little hands tightly over her heart as if to still its beating.

"It's no use fretting," said the rough man, as he stamped the last shovel full of earth over all the child had left to love; fretting won't bring dead folks to life; pity you hadn't got no ship's cousins somewheres to take you; it's a tough world, this 'ere, I tell ye; I don't see how ye're going to weather it. Guess I'll take ye round to Miss Fetherbee's, she's got a power of children and wants a hand to help her, so come along. If you cry enough to float the ark it won't do you no good. Allie obeyed him mechanically, turning her head every few minutes to take another, and yet another look where her mother lay buried.

The morning sun shone in upon an underground kitchen in the crowded city. Mrs. Fetherbee, attired in a gay colored calico dress, with any quantity of tinsel jewelry, sat sewing some showy cotton lace on a cheap pocket handkerchief. A boy of five years was disputing with a little girl of three, about an apple; from big words they had come to hard blows; and peace was finally declared at the price of an orange apiece, and a stick of candy—each combatant "putting in" for the biggest.

Poor Allie, with pale cheeks and swoolen eyelids, was staggering up and down the floor under the weight of a mammoth baby, who was amusing himself, pulling out at intervals little handfuls of her hair.

"Quiet that child! can't ye?" said Mrs. Fetherbee, in no very gentle tone. "I don't wonder the darling is cross to see such a solemn face. You must get a little life into you somehow, or you won't earn the salt to your porridge, here. There, I declare, you've half put his eyes out with those long curls dangling round; come here, and have 'em cut off; they don't look proper for a charity child;" (and she glanced at the short stabby crops on the heads of the little Fetherbee's.)

Allie's lip quivered, as she said, "Mother used to love to brush them smooth every morning; she said they were like little dead sister's; please dont," said she beseechingly.

"But I tell you I do please to cut 'em, so there's an end of that," said she, as the several ringlets fell in a shining heap on the kitchen floor; "and do for creation's sake, stop talking about "dead" folks, and now eat your breakfast if you want it; I forgot you hadn't had any—there's some of the children's left; if you're hungry it will go down, and if you aint you can go without."

Poor Allie! The daintiest morsel wouldn't have "gone down;" her eyes filled with tears that wouldn't be forced back, and she sobbed out, "I must cry, if you beat me for it—my heart pains me so bad."

"H-i-t-y—T-i-t-y! what's all this?" said a broad-faced, rosy milkman, as he sat his shining can down on the kitchen table: what's all this, Miss Fetherbee? I'd as lief eat pins and needles as hear a child cry. Who is she, pointing at Allie, and what's the matter of her?"

"Why, the long and the short of it is, she's a poor pauper that we've taken in out of charity, and she's crying at her good luck, that's all," said the lady, with a vexed toss of her head. "That's the way benevolence is always rewarded; nothing on earth to do here, but tend the baby, and amuse the children, and run to the door, and wash the dishes, and dust the furniture, and tidy the kitchen, and go of a few arrands; ungrateful little baggage!!"

Jimmy's heart was as big as his farm, (and that covered considerable ground); glancing pitifully at the little weeper, he said skillfully, "that child's going to be sick Miss Fetherbee, and then what are you going to do with her? besides she's too young to be of much use to you; you'd better let me take her."

"Well, I shouldn't wonder if you was half right," said the frightened woman; "she's been trouble enough, already; I'll give you a "quit claim."

"Will you go with me little maid?" said Jemmy, with a bright good-natured smile. "If you please," said Allie, laying her little hand confidingly in his rough palm.

"Sit up closer," said Jemmy, as he put one arm round her, to steady her fragile figure, as they rattled over the stony pavements; we shall soon be out of this smoky city. Consarn it! I always feel as if I was poisoned every time I come into town;) and then we'll see what sweet hay-fields, and new milk, and clover blossoms, and kind hearts will do for you—you poor little plucked chicken!—Where did you come from when you came to live with that old Jezebel?"

"From my mother's grave," said Allie.

"Poor thing! poor thing!" said Jemmy, wiping away a tear with his coat sleeve. "Well, never mind; I wish I hadn't asked you; I'm always running my head agin a beam. Do you like to feed chickens, hey? Did you ever milk a cow? or ride on top of a hay-cart? or go a berrying? Do you love bouncing red apples? and peaches as big as your fist? It shall go hard if you don't have all. What's come of your hair, child? have you had your head shaved?

"Miss Fetherbee cut it off," said Allie.

"The old sarpent! I wish I'd come in a little quicker. Was it your curls them young 'uns was playing with?—Well, never mind," said he, looking admiringly at the sweet face before him, "you don't need 'em; and they might get you to looking in the glass oftener than was good for you."

"Well, here we are, I declare; and there stands my old woman in the door-way, shading her eyes from the sun. I guess she wonders where I raised you!"

"Look here, Betsy! do you see this child? The earth is fresh on her mother's grave. She has neither kith or kin. I've brought her from that old skinflint of a Fetherbees, and here she is; if you like her it's well and good, and if you don't, she'll stay here just the same; but I know you will," said he coaxingly, as he passed his brawny arm round her capacious waist; and now get her something that will bring the color to her cheeks; for mind you, I'll have no white slaves on my farm."

How sweetly Allie's little tired limbs rested in the fragrant lavendered sheets! A tear lingered on her cheek, but its birth was not of sorrow. Jemmy pointed it out to his wife, as they stood looking at her before retireing to rest. "Never forget it Betsy," said he, harsh words ain't for the mother'ess. May God forget me, if she ever hears one from my lips."

Important Advice.

Above all maxims necessary to be borne in mind by the parent and teacher, I would earnestly recommend the following: Be on the watch for the least dereliction that bears the character of deceit. Insincerity is the crowning fault of the world. Let not the terrible vice of falsehood implant itself in your children's minds. The first undiscovered deception—the first undetected and unpunished lie will strongly tempt repetition; and ere long, this, one of the basest vices of our nature, will hold away over the hearts of our offspring. Point out, in mild yet forcible terms, its futility, its wickedness; at the same time assuring the offender of pardon after a free and perfect confession. Exhort them to the truth on all occasions; let them feel that any slight fault, concealed by falsehood or evasion, is doubled and trebled in sinfulness thereby. Teach them also that the Eternal Parent pardons only the penitent, who humbly confess their errors.

It cannot be too early indicated to the observation of the youthful understanding, that the straight forward path is invariably the best and safest, although perchance, it may seem less inviting and seductive than that of falsehood and deceit. That to act with self-denial, and a strict regard to truth will in the end be amply rewarded. That virtue, in short, is the best policy, chiming most closely with our real interest; and that wrong doing and infringement of the moral law, albeit apparently successful, is linked to the perpetual scourge of an evil conscience. But the more matured and enlightened mind be taught to pursue good for his own sake, irrespective of all interested motives; should be made to comprehend the true beauty of holiness, and unselfish love of doing good, and to enter fully into the eternal truths revealed by the boundless love of God.

A Woman in California.

We have before us says the Boston Traveler, a private letter from a lady, though a hard working woman in California. It would interest our readers, we have no doubt as it has us, were we at liberty to publish it entire. The writer appears to keep a restaurant or eating house, in a mining village. Among her visitors she accidentally discovered the son of an old Connecticut acquaintance, and finding he was endeavoring to induce his father and mother to visit California, she writes this letter to induce them forward. After an introductory explanation of who she was, and where they became acquainted with each other, she goes on to say;

"I have made $18,000 worth of pies—about one third of this has been clear profit. One year I dragged my own wood off the mountains and chopped it, and I never had so much as a child to take a step for me in the country. $11,000, I baked in a little iron skillet, a considerable portion by a camp fire, without the shelter of a tree from the broiling sun. But now I have a cooking stove, in which I bake four pies at a time, a comfortable cabin, carpeted, and a good many "Robinson Crusoe" comforts about me, which though they have cost me nothing, yet they make my place look habitable. I also hire my wood hauled and chopped. I bake on an average abou 1200 pies a month, and clear $200. This in California is not thought much, and yet, in reality, few in comparison are doing as well. I have been informed there are some women in our own town clearing $50 per week at washing, and I cannot doubt it. There is no labor so well paid as women's labor in California. It is hard work to apply one's self incessantly to toil, but a few years will place you above wants, with a handsome independency. I intend to leave off work in spring, and give my business into the hands of my sister in-law. Not that I am rich, but I need but little, and have none to toil for but myself. I expect to go home some time during the present year, for a short visit, but I could not long be content away from the sunny clime of this yellow land. A lovelier or more healthy climate could not be, and when I get a few friends about me, I think I shall be nearly happy again."

THE BAG-PIPE.—There is a piper playing beneath our window.

From youth we have been fond of the shrill, discordant music of the bag-pipe. Perhaps it is a defect in our idiocracy, but we love sharp, fierce, keen, and intense sounds; tones which seem to be torn from the very hear of Music. They strike the deepest and finest chords of our nature. Hark! what an awful mockery there is about that strain, an interblending of reels and battle-charges! The peaceful night-dance, and the war-like march to its stifled tramp every moment growing deeper and faster. Now it sounds like wintry wind shrieking in a misty pass; now like the clash of spears, and the wail of the dying; anon it grows lighter and more victorious, firing our blood like the sound of a trumpet.

It is changed again. Now it is a merry tilt, such as the Scotch dance at Hallowe'en. We can almost hear the plattering of light feet, and see the shaking of ruffled plaids. Tam O'Shanter whirls in a tipsy circle with Souter Jennie, and Duncan Grey leads out Meg, coquetting still. Good evening, ladies and gentlemen? Make yourself merry. The lights are twinkling overhead, and the pipers growing mellow. Why stop to wink or sigh!—Hang care? We are yours sweet lass, for the next set. Play up again!

Again the old sad tune! It is as if the hearts of all that are suffering in the wide world set up at once a long-drawn, melancholy wail to the throne of the Infinite. It is not Music, shrieking, but Life! It is the voice of Humanity, yearning with divine despair! Like its accompaniment, it is full of laughter and tears; and like that, too, it must soon have an end. Its clamorous but fainting echoes will soon be devoured by the silence of death.

THE HAPPIEST MAN.—Let a man have all the world can give, he is still miserable, if he has a grovelling, unlettered, undevout mind. Let him have his gardens, his fields, his lawns for grandeur, plenty ornament and gratification; while at the same time God is not at all in his thoughts. And let another have neither fields nor garden; let him only look at nature with an enlightened mind—a mind which can see and adore the Creator in all his works, can consider them as demonstrations of his power, his wisdom, his goodness and truth—this man is greater as well as happier in his poverty than the other in his riches; the one is little higher than the beast, the other a little lower than an angel.—Jones.

☞ Old Deacon Billings; a staunch temperance man, having accidentally swallowed a rousing drink of gin, was asked how he felt after it. "Felt!" cried the deacon, "why, I felt as though I was settin' on the roof of our meetin' house, and every shingle was a jewsharp."

THOU ART ESTRANGED.

From the Dollar Newspaper.

Thou art estranged! no more at eve
I haste thy coming step to greet;
To pass the fleeting hours away
In soul communion pure and sweet!
The gentle stars still brightly beam,
But not to light thy way to me,
The evening winds seem murmuring low,
A requiem sad, lost one, for thee.

My wayward fancy oft recalls
The truthful seeming of thine eye,
Reflecting in its shadowy depths
A soul of feeling, pure and high!
Thy warm heart smile, the holy light
That ever rested on thy brow,
The lineaments I loved to trace
Remain but to my memory now.

Why is it thus? I never knelt
To breathe to heaven a pleading prayer,
But in that calm and holy hour,
Thy name was softly murmured there.
My heart ne'er knew a dream of joy,
That did not shed its light on thine,
And in thy hours of sadness, too
I sought to make thy sorrows mine.

Whate'er my faults I will not ask
Forgiveness for those errors now;
When blessings crowd the daily path,
And peace is smiling on thy brow!
But come when in thine hour of wo,
Thy heart heaves high in wild unrest,
And let thy drooping head once more
Be pillowed on this faithful breast.

A FINE SIMILE.—Mr. Headly, recently in a lecture, in speaking of the American Declaration of Independence, and the attitude taken by this country before the world, introduces the following beautiful figure: Have you ever seen an eagle fettered to the earth; day after day, and week after week? How his plumage droops, and his proud bearing sinks away into an expression of fear and humility. His eye that was wont to outgaze the sun, is lustreless and dead, and but low sounds of irritation escape him. But just let the cry of a proud eagle, seated on a far mountain crag meet his ear; and how his roughened plumage smooths itself into beauty, his dropping neck becomes erect and his eye gleams as of old. Pour that wild scream again on his ear, and those broad wings unfold themselves in their native strength, and with a cry as piercing and shrill as that of his fellow, he strains on his fetters and perchance bursts away, soaring gloriously toward heaven. Who shall stay his flight, or fill his soul with fear? So had man been chained down age after age, till his spirit was broken, his dignity and glory gone, and his soul marred and strained. Our Declaration of rights was the cry of that free Eagle on his mountain crag; and the fettered soul heard and answered it the world over, with a shock that rocked the thrones of Europe to their basis, and made the chain that bound it shake and quiver beneath its angry blows.

GO TO WORK.—Some people are at a loss what they shall do with themselves. To dispose of themselves to the best advantage, they will take a nap. Nothing to do! Poor lazy fellow. Would that time were for sale, I surely would buy yours, for then we should both be gainers. Nothing to do. What are you here for?—What do you live for? Up lazy bones and to work!—The world is alive—men are upon the run—things move by railroad speed. We want you. There's a wheel to make—here a pile of wood to chop—there a field to plow, here some cloth to weave; barrels, goad-sticks, popguns, hats, boots, fiddlestrings, horse-shoes, lightening rods, telegraphs, railroads, all the machinery of domestic and literary life must be made and repared, to keep the world in motion. Up, or you'll rust out! Up, or you'll be run over! Up, be something—dig out your eyes—move your pegs; go to work. 'Twill sharpen your ideas—you will begin to dive—the blood will begin to circulate—cash will come in. Don't sit there dozing, oozing life away in a kind of half dream. You will awake up and find yourself dead one of these days, unless you stir out. Rouse up—strike high—shoot deep.—Bost Trans.

BACKING OUT.—A somewhat eccentric lawyer, before engaged in defending a hard case, and not being altogether pleased with the ruling of the presiding judge, remarked that he believed the whole court could be bought with a peck of beans.

The judge, of course, took this remark in high dudgeon, and ordered the lawyer to sit down, and demanded of him an apology for this contempt of court, threatening him with commitment for the offence if he did not apologize.

The lawyer, after a little reflection, remarked that he had said he believed that the court could be bought for a peck of beans; that he had said it without reflection, and wished to take it back; but, said he, "If I had put it at half a bushel, I never would have taken it back in the world."

A Scene.

Dry good stores are sometimes the scene of ludicrous conversations. The other day a young lady stepped into a well known establishment in town, and enquired of a handsome clerk.

"Sir, have you any mouse colored ladies gloves?"

"Mouse colored gloves, miss?"

"Yes—a sort of gray—just the color of your drawers there;" meaning the store drawers, which were painted gray.

"My drawers, miss," ejaculated the young man, glancing downwards at his dress to see if everything was right and tight. "My drawers, miss! why I don't wear any!"

The young lady was carried home on a shutter.

Church Going.

"Well Laura, give me a sketch of the sermon. Where was the text?"

"Oh, I don't know. I have forgotten it. But—would you believe it!—Mrs V. wore that horrid bonnett of hers! I couldn't keep my eyes off it all meeting time; and Miss T. wore a new shawl that must have cost fifty dollars — I wonder folks do not see the folly of such extravagance; and there was Miss S. with her pelisse—it is astonishing what want of taste some folks exhibit!"

"Well, if you have forgotten the sermon you have not the audience; but which preacher did you prefer—this one or Mr. A?"

"Oh, Mr. A., he is so handsome and so graceful; what an eye, and what a fine set of teeth he has!"

☞ An old North End Sexton was once seen to shed tears. Inquiries being made as to the cause, it was ascertained that one of the North End doctors had stepped out. "Ah!" said the old sexton, "that was my best friend—he has brought me more fees than any other doctor in Boston."

Contra.—A doctor having heard of the death of an aged sexton, remarked—"Ah, he was a good friend of mine, and has covered up a great deal of bad work in his day."

☞ During the examination of a witness, as to the locality of the stairs in a house, the counsel asked him;

"Which way did the stairs run?"

The witness who by the way, was a noted wag replied that—

"One way they ran up, but the other way they ran down."

The learned counsel winked both eyes, and then took a look at the ceiling.

For the Erie Observer.

MR. EDITOR:—Will you please give place, in your paper, to the following extracts from a valedictory address, delivered March 1st, 1852, by Professor Small, of the Homœopathic Medical College, of Pa., at the 4th Annual Commencement, "in the presence of a large, intelligent and fashionable audience." The opening prayer was offered by the Rev. Mr. Evans, and the benediction pronounced by Rev. Mr. Bennington. The President of the College, Hon. A. V. Parsons, conferred the degree of Doctor of Medicine, upon twenty-one graduates. This is an increase of graduates over those of last year. Now the number of matriculants at the session of 1851-52 is 93, while at previous session, but 70 were in attendance.—By so doing you will oblige several friends of HOMŒOPATHY.

There are no occasions of greater interest to the community, than the anniversary sessions of scientific institutions; and none involve more fearful responsibilities to those immediately concerned in their ceremonies.—They are usually held for the purpose of awarding the credentials of a new relationship to those, who have finished their curriculum of instruction, and have been deemed qualified and worthy of the honour.

In fulfilment of the requisitions of the Homœopathic Medical College of Pennsylvania, a number of gentlemen, of excellent character and preliminary attainments, have entered upon and completed a course of professional study. They have acquitted themselves honourably, as students of Anatomy, Physiology, Botany, Materia Medica, and the Practice of Medicine. They have become familiar with Clinical Medicine and Surgery, with Chemistry, Toxicology, Obstetrics, and the diseases of Women and Children. They have passed a final and plenary examination in all these branches, and have shown themselves worthy of the degree of Doctor of Medicine, and the diploma of the College, about to be conferred upon them.

The occasion of introducing these gentlemen to the public, by the diplomas which they will bear, is both joyous and interesting; yet it awakens a sense of responsibility and solicitude concerning the future. They are to assume new relations of great importance to the welfare of society. Who is there that has more entrusted to his care than the physician? Whose duties are more arduous and useful? and whose relations are more sacred?

We need not pause for a reply to these intergogatories, for nothing comes more home to our consciousness than the responsibility resting upon the physician. To him are committed, in a certain sense, the health and lives of his fellow men. He is to war against disease and pestilence, against suffering and distress; and when successful in his warfare, no conqueror is more deserving of honour and respect. But if he is deficient of knowledge and skill that he might have possessed, and, as a consequence, the pestilence is abroad at "noonday," and disease, unarrested, prays upon the human constitution, he ignobly sacrifices the sacred trust committed to his keeping.

The human intellect is said to be a gift of divine origin, and if employed in accordance with the will of the Donor, it must, of course, be productive of the best interests of the human race. It is a ray of light from the great source of light, which sheds its lustre like the effulgence of the morning, when fired up with the love of doing good. To the physician, it is a gem of great value but must not be used as gems of old are said to have been used, in unholy incantations, and in conjuring up foul spirits from the abyss to send forth on missions of evil; but for devising and vindicating measures, by which to succour the oppressed, and to flash the beams of hope and joy upon the pathway of those, whose future prospects seem to be clouded with suffering and distress.

There is nothing more evident, then, than the necessity of a thorough medical education, to qualify one for practice. No branch embraced in the curriculum of studies can be dispensed with, without inflicting some abridgment upon the uses of the profession.

The spirit of analytical inquiry that characterizes the present age, is needed in no department of society more than in the profession of medicine. The thoroughly educated physician must diligently interrogate Nature, if he would learn her laws and methods of operation. It is only by pursuing this course that he derives a knowledge of these great truths that can lead him to accomplish a vast amount of good. He becomes clothed with the Creator's power, and becomes an instrument in the accomplishment of His benevolent designs, only in the same ratio that he learns the laws of creation. The mere acquirement of truth, however, unless it fashions the character of the learner, so as to render him a true representative of supreme beneficence.

Of what value is the mere reception of truth, unless it serves for principles of correct action? All truth is practical; and the mind becomes its storehouse, for the purpose of regulating and controlling the outstanding acts of a man's life. It is the province, therefore, of a well cultivated mind, to be united with affections of a corresponding character, while in the centre of both mind and affections should be inscribed, in letters of light, "SACRED TO GOD AND MAN."

For the purpose of insuring certainty in the practice of medicine, the science of Homœopathy has been introduced into the curriculum of medical studies. This science has effected a perfect generalization of the powers of the materia medica, under a single comprehensive law of remedial action. Its claims for a favorable consideration, rest entirely upon the experience and success of those who have adopted the law to guide them in practice, and the testimony of numerous witnesses who have thereby realized speedy relief from suffering. Is there any thing that can better establish the relation of the physician to the sick than a profound knowledge of a law that points out the method of cure? What can insure greater promptness in affording relief? What more signally crowns his efforts with success? If familiar with the "law of cure," which the science of Homœopathy alone discloses, he beholds in every case of disease he is called upon to treat, unmistakable indications of the remedy to be employed. Numerous are the instances on record where an isolated remedial agent, administered upon the principle "that it will remove a group of symptoms similar to those it is known to have produced upon persons in health," has not only proved absolutely curative, but prophetic of a future success, that has sent the physician on his way rejoicing.

Notwithstanding a knowledge of diseases, and their affiliated remedies, is of the greatest importance to enable the physician to preserve his legitimate relation to the sick, yet it is a part of his obligation to be particularly mindful of his conduct. It is this that commends him to the confidence of his patient, and opens his way for success. By force of conduct alone he may become a greater favorite with the public, than he otherwise would be, if possessed of the most acknowledged skill. He must be friendly, with dignity—cheerful, without affectation—serious, but not sad—lively, but not ludicrous, and indulgent in all unimportant matters. But he must be firm in the execution of his well-defined duties, yet sympathizing and attentively careful in the examination of his patient, avoiding petulance or haste, seeking propriety in all things, and moreover the approbation of a good conscience.

The relation of the physician to the public, is of no less importance than his relation to the sick, for public opinion decides his cast and station. He must, therefore, be mindful of his reputation:—a good name is a precious odour that should surround him in the social walks of life. Being emphatically the man of the people, he must avoid partisan strife and puerile contentions; he must be frugal, studious, industrious, and temperate; neither malice nor envy can do him harm, unless his own misdeeds prepare the way. SHERIDAN KNOWLES once remarked, that "if men do deeds that win them evil names, they need not spurn the names, but the deeds that won them."

In addition to the relations of the physician to the sick, and to the public, there is a fraternal relation existing between him and his colleagues. This should be cherished, and made subservient to a noble end. Nothing is more promotive of concert of action in a good cause than mutual good will, forbearance and respect. The interest of one member of the profession should in the main be the interest of the whole. When we assert "the profession," we mean a fraternity of regularly educated physicians, such as have mastered a regular course of studies, and have received the usual credentials of professional attainments. And it may be repeated, that such should have an interest for the welfare of each other, and for the whole collectively. It is the duty of each to pursue a course that will reflect honour and credit upon the whole body.

They may be kind and courteous towards one whom they cannot consent to meet as an equal, and may entertain the highest regard for him as a man, but to meet him as a professional equal would be a violation of honesty and a sacrifice of honour, as well as a fatal barrier to the progress of medicine.

There are, however, district schools of the profession, that have arisen out of doctrines at variance with each other in practice, and between these schools there cannot be preserved a useful fraternal relation. About sixty years ago, Dr. Samuel Hahnemann was so impressed with the uncertainty of medicine, that he instituted an inquiry into the cause. He conceived the idea, that the true art of healing must have been based upon an immutable law of Nature, which had been disregarded or obscured by the clashing theories and dogmata of the schools. He undertook the mighty task of searching among the records of medical lore and experience for some traces of the law; and with a perseverance, such as marked the indefatigable search of Cicero for the tomb of Archimedes, he prosecuted the work.

It was the discovery of this veritable law of Nature, calculated to endow the "healing art" with the highest capabilities of good, that attracted the attention of men of science, and that resulted in establishing a new school throughout the civilized world. Between the members of this school and those that discard the great principle upon which it is founded, there cannot be preserved a useful professional intercourse. While sincerity and honesty of purpose may be duly accorded to each, to meet in consultation with regard to practice, would be an absurdity alike dishonorable to both. The honest believer in the similia similibus principle, can never prove forgetful of strict propriety in practice. He cannot compromise the principle, or even countenance a similar compromise in his opponents. The governing principles of each school presents a character totally opposite, and there can be no admixture of them without a total destruction of both. It is incumbent, therefore, upon each, to adhere honestly, without the shadow of compromise, to that method which it recognises as being founded in truth. At the same time keeping the mind open to conviction, and altogether free from partiality in judging of the results. The sick room should be sacredly guarded; it is not the place for controversy, nor for the reconciliation of opposing views. Therefore it is better to regard the different sentiments of the schools, a sufficient reason for non-professional intercourse, except for interchange of thought and friendly discussion. But in a country where liberty of thought and speech is admissible, a difference of sentiment need not give rise to animosity, mutual hatred, secret detraction, or wanton trifling with individual character; nor it never will, except with those who ought to be regarded a reproach to any profession. "It is presumptuous to conclude a man wrong; because he differs from another in his views. It is illiberal and fiendish to smite him with the rod of wrath because he merely exercises the right of unrestricted thought, implanted in his very being."

The pleasure yet remains, gentlemen of the graduating class, of addressing a few words particularly to you.—After a protracted, but, it is presumed, a pleasant period of pupilage, you are about to be initiated into an honourable and useful profession. The relation in which you have stood to your teachers is now to be superseded by another, that is to unite you, fraternally, with them. I feel authorized to give you the assurance, that your deportment as students, and your demeanour as gentlemen, have won for you their highest regard. You will shortly separate from us, and from each other, to return to your homes and the scenes of your future labors. In taking our leave of you, we cannot counsel you better, than by urging upon you a continuance of the same considerate course of conduct that has characterized you as students. The ceremonies of this day will impose upon you many obligations of a grave and responsible character, and, in discharging them, you may encounter difficulties that can only be surmounted by honesty, industry and perseverance. Freedom of thought and opinion is in accordance with the genius of our institutions: yet you may be opposed by a spirit of intolerance; opponents may assail you with epithets calculated to exasperate your feelings; yet, so long as you are sheltered under correct principles of action, you will avoid a spirit of retaliation, and be borne on to triumph through the righteousness of your cause. Your studies have embraced a wide range of subjects, fitted to impress you with the nature of your duties, among which is the science of Homœopathy, that pre-eminently centralizes the whole, and points distinctly to the great purpose of the profession which you have chosen. If you firmly believe in the law of curing diseases pointed out by this science, you cannot consistently administer remedial agents upon any other principle, and the more rigidly you adhere to this law, the more certain will be your success. No hurricanes of scandal can destroy your foundation. Neither falsehood nor secret detraction can for a moment interrupt your progress, and if met with ridicule and affected contempt, they will fall harmless by your side.

☞ "Ma," said an inquisitive little girl, "will the rich and poor people live together when they go up to heaven?"

"Yes; my dear, they will all be alike there."

"Then, ma, why don't rich and poor Christians associate together?"

"Sally had better put you to bed my love—you are getting sleepy."

☞ "Mr. Dobson, you said you thought the defendant was slightly inebriated; what made you think so?"

"Because he persisted in wearing the knot of his neck tie under his left ear, and would have it that the brick house on the corner was trying to jump on his hat."

The Court allowed that Simpson had partaken of stimulants.

☞ "What shall we do for Cologne?" exclaimed a young lady with uplifted hands, on hearing of the Liquor Bill. Sure enough it makes a small allowance for "medicinal, chemical and mechanical purposes," but nothing for cosmetics. Judge Warren was right in intimating that the young misses of Wilbraham Academy knew very little of what they were doing when they signed the petition.—Boston Courier.

TERRIFIC CONFLAGRATION.

Two Thousand People Houseless—700,000 Dollars Property Destroyed—Chillicothe in Ashes!

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio, April 1, 1852.

At 12 o'clock this day a fire broke out, by the bursting of a stove in a cabinet shop, in the rear of the Clinton House, in this city, and the wind blowing a hurricane towards the E. N. E., the flames soon communicated with the stables of the Hotel, and then to the building itself. In ten minutes, the roof of that structure was on fire, and cinders were wafted to a great distance.

The buildings opposite the Clinton, on Walnut Street, soon caught, and thence the flames spread rapidly towards Paint Street, sweeping off every warehouse on the canal, north of Second St., and all the stabling, smoke-houses, &c., &c., in their rear. By 2 o'clock, every house in the square, bounded by Walnut and paint streets, and the Canal and Second street, every store and warehouse, every tenement, with four single and singular exceptions, were irretrievably lost.

Still the wind blew, and, as the Canal was empty, (the water being drawn for repairs,) the entire northern part of the city, north of Second street, and east of the Clinton House, was at the mercy of the elements.

Suffice it to say, fully one-fourth of the taxable property in Chillicothe, including all the buildings on the two most valuable squares, stores, hotels, dwellings, and warehouses, were destroyed!

The fire soon communicated across Paint street, beginning at the northern end, and spreading Eastward and Southward towards the Madeira House.—That, of course, was destroyed. East of Mulberry street, (two squares from the place where the fire originated,) about one-half of the buildings escaped, though some were burned at the distance of four or five furlongs from the Clinton House corner. The only houses left standing on the north side of Paint street are those of O. H. W. Luckett, H. Holcomb, new Catholic Church, and Dr. Willis'.

The whole population, women as well as men, are worn out with fatigue. By strenuous and heroic exertions, the fire was prevented from communicating to any building on the south side of Second street. While "Ross' Block" was burning, the heat on the opposite corners (Woodbridge's and Waddell's) was intense, and the cornices, shutters, &c., were only prevented from catching, by painful and constant exertions.

It is impossible to arrive at a correct estimate of losses. Old Chillicothe has received a blow from which she cannot recover in years.

Two Thousand of our population are houseless. From six to eight hundred thousand dollars worth of Property was consumed.

All our principal warehouses, with their stocks of groceries, pork, bacon, &c., &c., are burned.—Madeira's, in another part of town expected.

Marfield's and Adam's warehouses, north of the Clinton House, and every building in that direction, to the Gas Works and Deer Creek street, are gone.

Marfield and Luckett's loss is quite heavy—$75,000 some say.

All of the fine row of stores in Adam's Block with their contents were destroyed, viz; J. & A. Roads' and Marfield & Luckett's dry goods; Allen & Evans, hardware; Waddell, grocer, &c.

On the canal, Fullerton's, Holcomb's, Fraser's, Clarke & Sons, and all the smaller establishments every vestage of a building are gone.

The Messrs. Fraser had just carted 20,000 canvassed hams into their establishment, all of which, with much other valuable "proceeds of the hog," went by the board.

The fire crossed the canal, northwardly, and destroyed the foundry buildings of Shaw, West & Co. T. McDougall's dwelling, and fifty or more houses besides, whose occupants I have not positively ascertained. Those who are acquainted with our city will be surprised to hear that some of the buildings on the eastern side of Bridge street, caught and were consumed.

Singular as it may seem, early in the fight the firemen were hastily driven from the best engine in the place, which was consumed where it stood.—Much of the fire apparatus besides was consumed. With nothing to depend on for water supply but wells and cisterns, the best engines in the world could have done but little.

THE DEATH OF THE GOVERNOR OF NOVA SCOTIA.—Halifax papers of the 26th ult., received by the brig Anna, arrived at this port, are chiefly filled with obituary notices of Sir John Harvey, Governor of the Province, who died at Halifax at 11 A.M. on the 22d ult. He had been ailing for some time previous; but his sudden departure was not anticipated. The death of his wife, to whom he had been united for nearly half a century, was a severe shock to him. In regard to his military career, it is stated that he was gazetted as ensign in September 18, 1794, and was created Lieut. General, Nov. 9th, 1846. He served in the severe winter campaign of 1794-5 in Holland, under the Duke of York, and afterwards on the coast of France, at the Cape of Good Hope and in Egypt. During the late war he was Deputy Adjutant General in Canada, and was in several battles, including that at Lundy's Lane. At the battle of Fort Erie he was severely wounded.

The following anecdote is related of him: At the battle of Stony Creek, the Americans were defeated; but Sir John narrowly escaped being shot. An American rifleman was just presenting deadly aim at his commanding figure, when a word struck aside the fire-lock with this expression—"Don't shoot that British officer; he is preventing the shedding of blood." Sir John was riding among the combatants, attempting to stop the carnage. The officer who struck aside the rifle was Gen. Scott, and the occurrence led to the great friendship which afterwards existed between the two veterans. His funeral was to take place on the afternoon of the 27th, and was to be attended by the military, the colonial officers, and other dignitaries.—Boston Traveler.

A FEMALE SHIP CAPTAIN.—Amongst the fleet lately wind bound in Lamlash, not the least, but perhaps the greatest wonder, was the good old brig Cleotus, Saltcoats, which for more than twenty years has been commanded by an heroic and exceedingly clever young lady, Miss Betsy Miller, daughter of the late Mr. W. Miller, shipowner and wood merchant of that town. He was concerned with several vessels, both in the American and coasting trade. Miss Betsy, before she went to sea, acted as "ship's husband" to her father, and seeing how the captains in many cases behaved, her romantic and adventurous spirit impelled her to go to sea herself. Her father gratified her caprice, and gave her the command of the Cleotus, which she holds to the present day, and she has weathered the storms of the deep when many of the commanders of the other sex have been driven to pieces on the rocks. The Cleotus is well known in the ports of Belfast, Dublin, Cork, &c.—Glasgow Post.

☞ The Fredericksburgh News, to illustrate the evil effects of the intermarriage of blood relations, mentions an instance, within its own observation, of a family of wealth and respectability, the collateral branches of which "intermarried, until there cannot be found in three of them a sound man or woman. One has sore eyes, another scrofula, a third is idiotic, a fourth blind, a fifth bandy legged, a sixth with a head about the size of a turnip, with not one out of the number exempt from physical or mental defects of some kind. Yet this family perseveres in these intermarriages." We have a striking illustration of the evil effects of intermarriage in our own city, in the family who claim to own all the property for twenty-four miles about Albany.—Knickerbocker.

NEW REMEDY FOR TOOTHACHE.—Mr. James Beaston of Airdrie, says: "Gum copal, when dissolved in chloroform, forms an excellent compound for stuffing the holes of decayed teeth. I have used it very frequently, and the benefit which my patients have derived from it has been truly astonishing. The application is simple and easy. I clean out the hole, and moisten a little cotton with the solution; I introduce this into the decayed part, and in every instance the relief has been almost instantaneous.—The chloroform removes the pain, and the gum copal resists the action of the saliva, and as the application is so agreeable, those who may labor under this dreadful malady would do well to make a trial of it.—Medical Times in Journal Dentist' Science.

AN ENTERPRISING COUNTY.—Rutland county, Va., has now completed, within its own limits, one hundred miles of railroad, all centering to its common central point in Rutland. These roads pass through twelve important towns of the country, and touch upon and pass through portions of two others.

Bloody Tragedy—Infidelity of a Wife.

The Iowa papers give the details of a bloody tragedy which occurred on the 3d ult., in the county of Muscatine, and near the town of that name.

Some years ago a man named McCoy was a day laborer for a respectable citizen of Muscatine county, named Ney. Between the serving man and the employer's daughter sprang up a passion, which resulted in an elopement and marriage. Subsequently, McCoy removed to another county and became its sheriff. In the spring of '46 he went to California, leaving his wife and four children with her father, Mr. Ney. He was successful in the land of gold, and remitted considerable money for the support of his wife through the hand of a gentleman holding a judicial station in an adjoining county.

Some months since McCoy returned with a handsome fortune, but to his surprise, when he met his wife, she received him with coldness and aversion. The cause was soon revealed, by her own lips.

In his absence, she had become the mistress of the individual through whom she received the correspondence and remittance of her husband, and an infant then at her breast was the pledge of her infidelity. McCoy immediately resolved to take his four children and return to California, in the month of April next, meanwhile suffering them to remain with their mother at her father's house.

On the morning of Wednesday the 31. inst., he repaired to the house of Mr. Ney to take away his children; and their grandfather being away, succeeded without much difficulty. Mr. Ney, on his return, was furious on learning the event, and at once started off in a wagon in pursuit, accompanied by his son-in-law, named Patterson. Overtaking the wagon in which rode McCoy and his children, Ney at once leaped to the ground, and advancing demanded their immediate release. McCoy told him to stand back, declaring if he touched them he would be shot. Ney still insisted however, expressing a determination to have them or die: he was again warned to stand back several times, which he heeded not, but came up to the wagon and took hold of the oldest child by the arm, when McCoy shot him.

Ney then picked up a club and struck McCoy, who shot him twice in succession. McCoy was in the wagon at the time, standing over his children. Ney then picked up a club, and was shot a fourth time. Patterson then took hold of McCoy, and Ney again came at him, several times with a club.

Having lost his pistol, McCoy, after disengaging himself, drew a bowie knife, sprang towards Ney, and stabbed him in the breast. Ney still endeavoring to strike him with his club. He was stabbed three times, the third took effect in the shoulder.—When the knife was removed, Ney fell to the earth and died immediately.

Witness described the conflict as short, bloody, and decisive; each combatant seemed firmly resolved to conquer or die, and their movements were so rapid, and in such quick succession, as to preclude the possibility of successful interference by the spectators.

McCoy and Patterson both received injuries, the former slight, and the latter having his collar bone broken by receiving blows intended for the former. McCoy gave himself up, and is now awaiting his examination, which will take place as soon as Mr. Patterson is sufficiently recovered to appear on the witness stand.

Erie Railroad, Double Track.

The Erie Railroad Company have put under contract a second or double track of their road from Great Bend to Owego, and about twenty-five miles in Orange county. The contractors, it is said, take stock for this work at par, and it is understood are not to put it in the market for a year.

The Middletown Whig Press says, it is rumored that the Company have in contemplation, in constructing their second track, to leave the original route in several places, and make an entire new road. One of the new routes will be to leave the road at the Lackawaxen, following up that river to Honesdale, and hence to Lanesboro, where it will intersect the old route—cutting off Deposit, and shortening the distance some twenty-eight miles, besides materially lessening the grade. At the last session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, a Charter was obtained for this purpose—a fact with which the people of Sullivan have hitherto been unacquainted, and which shows that the hope that a track across our county will ultimately be constructed, has no foundation whatever.

A new route has also been explored between Elmira and Olean, via Lindleytown, following up the Cowanesque Creek, in Tioga county, Pa., to the head waters of Oswaya Creek, in Potter county, in that State and, down the same to Olean. The distance between Elmira and Olean by this route is thirty miles less than by the old one, besides being a much easier grade.

These changes of route will shorten the distance from New York to Dunkirk nearly sixty miles, and lessen the time in running the road about two hours.—Monticello Watchman.

AWFUL AFFRAY.—A negro slave, who had committed thefts, in the neighborhood, was pursued by his owner, Col. Broward, of Florida, his two sons, and two faithful negro slaves, on the 6th inst. Col. Broward and his two sons were armed with shotguns, and the two trusty negro slaves John and Brutus, concealed themselves where it was known the runaways had to pass. They soon appeared, and Col. B. called on them to surrender, or he would shoot them. They immediately turned and fled pursued by the whole party. Brutus first overtook Belfast. As soon as he laid his hand upon him, the villain quickly drew a long sharp-pointed butcher knife, with which he inflicted, what is considered a mortal wound on Brutus. The knife penetrated deep in the region of the liver, and nearly the whole of the bowels protruded from the wound. The negro John next came up with the desperado, and had scarcely seized him by the collar when he received his death wound. The weapon entered the chest between the collar bone and the first rib, and took a downward direction for five inches, towards the heart, dividing the main arteries, and producing almost instantaneous death. The two sons of Col. Broward were now in imminent danger, the murderer brandishing his bloody knife, while their guns for some cause would not go off. But fortunately at this moment Col. B. arrived, and ended the villain's career, by blowing his brains out.

MAIL ROBBERY AND ARREST.—On the 21st of February last, the Western mail, which was then conveyed on the Ohio Stage Company's coaches, it being their last trip, was robbed at Dunkirk. The Erie through bag and the Pittsburgh bag were subsequently found, cut open and rifled of their contents, in one of the stables of the Ohio Stage Co. at Dunkirk. That has, however, been kept quiet for the purpose of detecting the offenders, until the present time. Suspicion has lately rested on two drivers in the employment of the Ohio Stage Company, one of whom, Henry Smith, (supposed to be the principal offender,) was the driver of the coach from which the mail was taken. He has moreover until recently been miserably poor, but of late has exhibited a considerable sum of money without satisfactorily accounting for its coming in his possession. At the time of his arrest, which was effected near Erie on Saturday last, he attempted to escape. Both were to be examined at Dunkirk yesterday, whither they had consented to come.—Fredonia Censor.

"TOUGH YARN."—The Boston Transcript publishes some extracts of letters from the master of a vessel bound from the Sandwich Island to Manilla, which are as tough and indigestible as the recent story of the "Sea Serpent."

"The ship appeared covered with balls of fire; large seas breaking against each other, and running very irregular. Our light spars by this time were blown away and hanging by the rigging—no man could venture aloft. At 10.15 P. M., the heavens seemed to open and emit a flame of bluish light, accompanied by a blast that threw the ship on her beam ends. The water rushed in with fearful rapidity. I saw that the ship was foundering, and immediately ordered the mizzenmast cut away; three of the lanyards were cut, and the mast went within four feet of the deck, carrying all attached to it.—It was an awful moment. The ship continued to sink, even after the mizzen mast was gone. I crawled along to cut the lanyards of the main topmast backstays, but was washed over board, and again washed on board!

The ship was finally righted, and got safely into port.

AN IMPOSTOR.—Some of our exchanges are down upon a fellow calling himself George De Lafayette Smith, who represents himself as a Son of Temperance, and swindles money out of that order. He is a young man of 23 or 24 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, rather slender, with Sandy Hair.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 10, 1852.

DEMOCRATIC STATE NOMINATION.

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER.

WM. SEARIGHT of Fayette County.

Dr. Valentine.

This greatest delineator of the "Philosophy of Laughing" is now in our city, and will give two of his amusing Lectures on this and Monday evenings. The Doctor says, and he speaks with the authority of one who knows, that "there are three muscles to draw the mouth up, and only one to draw it down; which signifies that we are to laugh three times as much as we cry. Laughing promotes digestion, by jerring the internal organs.—Every organ in the human system requires exercise to maintain it in health. Hence Laughing was intended to regulate the internal organs. Many people resort to medicine to restore that which might be remedied by a hearty Laugh. Laughing equalizes the circulation and produces a general excitement of the system, highly conducive to health. As an instance of this, observe the rosy hue of a young lady's cheek after indulging in a hearty laugh. Some people laugh in their sleeves, and some behind the door; these are smothered Laughs, and are highly injurious to the system. There are many other Laughs, such as the Giggle, the Snicker, the Twist of the Mouth, &c., &c., all of which are spurious and injurious. The true and genuine Laugh, which counteracts the Blues, Horrors, and many other complaints, will be administered by the Doctor, as we said before, this evening; and for fear all may not be able to get a dose in one evening, the medicine chest will be kept open on Monday evening at the Reed House Hall.

Daily Paper in Erie.

Mr FRANCIS M. FARRELL, a young gentleman at present in our employ, proposes to issue a daily paper in this city, to be called the "Daily Sun." The "Sun" is to be independent in politics, and issued at the low rate of six cents a week, payable every Saturday morning. We recommend the enterprise to the favorable consideration of the public.

☞ FIRE.—We learn that Hough's Woollen Factory, situated about a mile north of Moorhead's Tavern in Harborcreek, was consumed by fire on Thursday. Part of the machinery and stock was removed, but in a damaged condition. Insured for $1500 in the Cherry Valley Mutual.

☞ On account of a press of work, our paper is a little late to day. This will account, also, for the non-appearance of several advertising favors that should have been inserted this week. Our friends must bear with us this time, as the opening spring business has crowded our job office so full of work that we are forced out of pure necessity to neglect them.

☞ Warren's Hat Store will now be found next door to the Cheap Book Store, in Brown's New Hotel. Having got into such a good neighborhood, we have no doubt he will give entire satisfaction to all who may give him a call.

"Material Aid."

We learn from the Philadelphia papers that Lycoming county has subscribed $200,000, and Clinton county $100,000 to the Sunbury and Erie road. The good work is progressing finely.

☞ While in Buffalo the other day, we dropped into the office of the "Rough Notes," a new penny paper just started there, and were agreeably surprised to find RANN, late of the Dansville Herald, presiding over the local department of the "Notes"

☞ UNITED STATES SENATOR.—Mr. Edmund Burke, of New Hampshire, formerly one of the editors of the Washington Union, will it is said, be elected Senator from that State to succeed Mr. Hale. Mr. Burke would be an ornament to the U. S. Senate, an honor to the old Granite State. He is one of the best Democrats in America

☞ We are indebted to Mr. Norton, of Wells & Co.'s Express, for late Cleveland papers.

☞ FASHIONS! FASHIONS!—Mrs. Curtis has returned from New York, and has opened a splendid assortment of Spring Millinery at her old stand, corner of State & Fifth streets. We have'nt given her advertisement an insertion—her stock is none the less beautiful and acceptable, though.

☞ The advertisement of our friend ROGERS, who flourishes in the Hat Line, just below our office on the Diamond, is left out this week. "All the world and the rest of mankind," especially if they are hatless, will recollect, however, that he is now receiving his Spring and Summer fashions.

☞ The Buffalo papers state that the receipts of the State Line Railroad, for the month of March, were $22-300 48. This is pretty well, but we are inclined to think the Erie and North East road has, in proportion to its length, done equally as well. Why don't the Directors let us know something about the matter.

"Honorable and Truthful."

The Gazette gives currency to a paragraph from the Buffalo Commercial backing out of its charge against the Erie Post Office, and sneakingly claiming that, in its former article, it did not intend to be "understood that the affairs" of the office "had been badly conducted during late years."—In other words the affairs of the office some years since—the exact time is not recorded—were badly managed. This the Gazette styles "honorable and truthful." We beg leave to differ with our contemporary! So far from the paragraph of the Commercial being at all "honorable," or "truthful," it looks to us as a very dishonorable way of getting out of a very small scrape. The paragraph which the Commercial took for its text was a complaint of the delays we ourself had experienced in receiving important business letters from Buffalo this spring—hence, the Commercial's battery must have been directed against the present management of the Post office, and not at the management of it years ago! Besides, does not the Gazette see the improbability "the "back-out" of the Commercial bears upon its face? We complained that letters have been eight or nine days reaching us from Buffalo. The Commercial flies up and charges that the fault does not rest upon the Buffalo office, and intimates that the Erie Post Office is a perfect sink—that when any-thing goes into it it never comes out. Such a charge does not set well, and those connected with the office write to the proprietors and demand a retraction. It is given, but very ungenerously, very untruthfully, and very dishonorably!

In the same category must be classed the Commercial's charge that the Observer is "Known to be constitutionally a grumbler." How does the Commercial know it? It does not exchange with us—it knows nothing about us! It may say it knows the Observer by reputation. It knows nothing of the kind; and if it does, it is beneath the character of a grave paper like the Commercial to retail "hear say" evidence. But are we constitutionally a grumbler? We ask the question because the Gazette has pleased to endorse the charge, by saying it is "honorable and truthful." Who have we grumbled at? Is it the Buffalo post-office? Is it the Erie post-office? By no means. We are aware the young gentlemen in the latter office do the best they can under the circumstances. The accumulation of mail matter here since the opening of the railroad has rendered their labors peculiarly heavy; and we know something of what the labors of a post office clerk are. Were we inclined to grumble, we could have found plenty of opportunities before this; but we think the Editor of the Gazette himself would have grumbled if, in consequence of the non-receipt of a business letter, he had been compelled to undergo the time and expense of a trip to Buffalo. And yet, because we complained of just such a circumstance, the Commercial says we are "constitutionally a grumbler," and the Gazette endorses the Commercial's slander as "honorable and truthful."

A Word or two about Cuba.

The New York Times has an excellent article on Spanish Colonial possessions past, present and future, and of Cuba in particular. It sees in the history of the past a sure guarantee that the rich island of Cuba must eventually be ours, and it acts the part of wisdom in preparing its readers for the event. It says, it is not given to States to have colonies and be wise. The story of colonial government is the story of colonial mismanagement. The destinies of a people are not to be shaped from a distance. Ships are not correctly steered by cords in the hands of a helmsman, stationed on dry land and out of sight of the vessel. Not to instance Britain, Holland or France, look at Spain and her colonial possessions, upon which the sun that shone upon Phillip III., never set. They have dropped away from her, not in single provinces and solitary islands, but by continents and archipelagos. The Phillipines, and two of the Antilles, are almost the last relics of the noblest territorial wealth, that ever fell into the hands of a single people. There are no more Acapulco galleons for Blake, or Penn, or Anson to capture. The winds that in other times toiled from every quarter of the sky, to waft wealth to Spain, have no end to their rest. The days of discovery, of occupation, of golden argosies, and invincible armadas, incalculable revenues and resistless armies, has gone by. Cuba, the filial Cuba, is the stay and dependence of tottering old age; and how long shall it be before the decrepit and querulous and weeping parent, a spectral resemblance of Ferdinand the Catholic, may be seen crouching upon one corner of the European continent, and bewailing his "ducats and his daughter; his daughter and his ducats," stolen away by that perfidious Lorenzo, Uncle Sam!

Towards Cuba the same suicidal system is employed, that has lost all things else. The same process of extortion and exhaustion, used by the early settlers upon the aborigines, are now enforced against the Creole descendants of those early settlers. Natives of Spain alone rule in Cuba; natives of Cuba are overtaxed bondmen, who minister to the wealth and arrogance and safety of their imported lords. To defend the island, and its valuable tribute to the Spanish treasury, from American encroachments, the Creole is obliged to pay enormously. Taxation usually receives its equivalent in the shape of protection; the Cuban has to be taxed, and take care of himself in the bargain. The soldiery, to be sure, are selected for him and sent to him in such numbers as the timidity of Government suggests; but woe to the native if the military be not amply supplied. At the present moment there is more than ordinary stringency in these military demands. Fresh troops are poured into the island in a ceaseless tide. Gen. Concha, who had managed to gain the confidence of the Creole population, by his excellent tact and judgment, has been recalled. There is obviously a profound suspicion of this esoteric population at the basis of these changes. The old Spanish families are more insolent and exacting. Their organ, the Diario del Marina, discusses the posture of affairs in the most arrogant vein. The pretence that another Lopez invasion is apprehended, is simply puerile; and veils thinly the truth, that the subjugation of the Creoles, and the repression once for all of every revolutionary idea, are the genuine motives of the new policy. In fact, Cuba only shares in the great European reaction, with more hope of eventual extrication, however, than if in more neighborly proximity to its stepmother country.

This excess of caution is destined to defeat itself. So long as their lines seemed to have fallen upon them in pleasant places; while government was to some extent paternal; and social burthens and blessings more equitably dispensed, the watcher for a Cuban insurrection had a desperate task. So long as the people were trusted they were trustworthy; but the expression of doubt was a declaration of hostilities. Every new imposition makes release more desirable; and while the Government of the United States exists, with the shadow of its liberties reaching over the bayous, and leafy mountains, and cane fields of the island, Spain will never be less suspicious, nor her rule abate one iota of its rigidity. The prospect for the Creole in all other directions than this, is utterly discouraging. Despair or pity at home will drive him to seek help from abroad; and the help can only come from us. And even in this direction the hope is far from being assured. The growing timidity of our foreign intercourse is not calculated to impress the foreigner with a saving sense of our capacities. If we can't protect one citizen on the island from Spanish tyranny, how shall we protect one million?" Nevertheless, the Spanish Government is driving the question to a sudden solution, and we shall not have many years to wait. No one doubts, we presume, that Cuba shall eventually be ours. Spain does not doubt it; and only stuggles in an awkward fashion to postpone the event. A few more insults; a few more confiscations of personal liberty and property; some yet more unequivocal expressions of contempt for our Government and its agents: and the ire of our people may be stirred to foregather the work of time, thereby leaving Spain ducatless and daughterless, as aforesaid.

☞ A silly story found place in some of the Philadelphia paper last week, to the effect that the Democratic members of Congress from this State wrote a letter to Richmond, telling the Virginia Convention that Mr. Buchanan was the only candidate for the Presidency who could carry Pennsylvania. There is not a word of truth in the story. The Democratic members did write, however, that Mr. B., in the event of his nomination at Baltimore, could carry the State; and this was done to contradict the numerous falsehoods and misrepresentations circulated in Virginia for the last few weeks against him—a scheme that most signally failed.—Lancaster Intel.

Though the story referred to above was, without doubt, a very silly one, yet it was believed every where for the simple reason that Mr. Buchanan's particular friends were known to do many very silly tricks, and it was not thought at all improbable that they would be guilty of one as "silly" as this, even. Now, we do not know but our "Democratic members did write that Mr. B., in the event of his nomination, could carry the State," but we venture the assertion that if they did so, they gave a pledge they knew nothing about. The fact is "our members of Congress," of whatever political stripe they may be, "know as little as the law will allow" of the feelings and sentiments of the people upon any question, especially the Presidential, and it is about time they should be told of it.

☞ Speaking of the weather, did you ever see such a week? Monday and Tuesday it snowed and blowed, and in Buffalo, where we were, the sleighs were out and the jingle of the bells indicated a January day instead of the fifth of April. But Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, were as lovely as the others were disagreeable.—The spring has opened bad, but it gives indications now of an improvement in tone and temper. We hope it will continue!

☞ We are pleased to see that the North East and Erie Road have secured the services of our young friend John F. Tracy, as Superintendent. He is admirably qualified for the post, and is every inch a man.

☞ The New York papers are still harping on "Hard Pan and Quick Sand." Out of the state it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to descipher what they are trying to get at, but cross the State line once, and every child can tell you what "Hard-pan and Quick-sand" means

The Sunbury and Erie Road in Lycoming.

The Lycoming Gazette notices a large meeting of the friends of this work, held in that village last week. It says "D. L. Miller, Esq., President of the road, made a forcible speech, urging the propriety of an early subscription of $200,000, by the Commissioners of Lycoming county, and showing why he thought such an investment would be safe and profitable, and was enthusiastically received. The meeting was addressed by several of our citizens, and participated in by our largest property-holders, several of whom were among the officers of the meeting. A motion was carried unanimously, asking the county commissioners to subscribe. There can be no doubt that a majority of the people, of this part of the county, are in favor of an immediate subscription of stock, as soon as they shall see a reasonable prospect of the commencement and completion of an enterprise which must prove of the greatest benefit. We are inclined to believe in the safety of such an investment; having always been the firm friend and consistent advocate of this most important improvement ever projected in this State."

"Don't dodge till you're Hit"

Some of our over wise rail-road agitators, not satisfied with the rebukes they have repeatedly received from the people for their opposition to the Western road, have been attempting to get up a fever in consequence of the introduction of a bill in the Senate to allow the Sunbury and Erie Road to extend to the Ohio line. Various are the improbable stories they have put afloat in regard to the provisions of the bill, as well as the ultimate intention of those having the matter in charge. Now the simple facts are these. Great complaints have been made by these same gentlemen of the western road, as now being prosecuted, being in the hands of capitalists of New York and Ohio. Great stress, we say, has been laid upon the fact that the "material aid" to the enterprise has been furnished by persons not citizens of Erie, thus taking from Pennsylvania, as they say, the control of the western trade. Now, Senator Fernon, of Philadelphia county, one of the most talented advocates of the Sunbury road, the Gauge Law, and Erie's interests, has not been an inattentive observer of these complaints—hence he has conceived the project of giving to Pennsylvania forever, and beyond all contingency, the entire control of the western road. For this purpose he has introduced a bill to extend the Sunbury and Erie road from Erie to the Ohio line, subject to all the provisions of the Guage Laws of the State, and of the Erie County Guage Law in particular. The effect of this bill, should it become a law, which we do not doubt, will be to give to the Sunbury road, and thus to the State, and to Philadelphia, the entire control of the trade and travel of the west. To do this the Sunbury road will be compelled to purchase the work of the Franklin Canal Company. Taking the whole matter into consideration we think this will be the best arrangement, both for the State at large, and the local Interests of Philadelphia and Erie, that could be devised. What objections there are to it we certainly cannot see. It will give us a western road—it will give us a Philadelphia road, and that, too, sooner than we could hope to get it under any other circumstances. We say, then, to these agitators, don't dodge till you are hit, for the blunderbuss you are afraid of is not pointed this way, and besides, it is not loaded.

Since the above was written we have obtained the following copy of the bill introduced by Mr. Fernon, and it will be seen at once that it bears us out in all we have said in favor of the scheme:

A further supplement to an Act entitled an Act to incorporate the Sunbury and Erie, and Pittsburgh and Susquehanna Railroad Companies.

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the Sunbury and Erie Railroad Company be and they are hereby authorized to extend their Railroad, subject to all the provisions and restrictions contained in their charter and the several supplements thereto, by such route as the Directors of said Company shall deem most feasible, from the city of Erie to the west line of the State of Pennsylvania, and there to connect the same with the Railroad now in process of construction of the Cleveland, Painesville and Ashtabula Rail Road Company, at such place, in such manner and upon such terms as shall be agreed upon by the before named companies, and said Sunbury and Erie Railroad Company may contract with said Cleveland, Painesville and Ashtabula Railroad Company to construct said road between the city of Erie and the State line of Pennsylvania, or to furnish means for the construction thereof and pay for the same, either in shares of the capital stock of said Sunbury and Erie Railroad Company, at not less than the par value thereof, or in money, at such time and on such terms as may be agreed on by said companies, and may also contract with said Cleveland, Painesville and Ashtabula Railroad Company, to equip and work said railroad upon such terms and conditions, and for such time as shall be mutually agreed on, and may make with said company all such arrangements, relative to the transportation of freight and passengers over their respective roads, times and mode of connection and running of trains, as may by said companies be deemed mutually advantageous, not contravening any law of this Commonwealth; and said Sunbury and Erie Railroad Company may purchase from any company or companies, individual or individuals, all such grounds, materials, rights of way, or road-beds, whether finished or unfinished, as may be necessary or convenient to be occupied or used in the construction of said extention, to the said line of the State of Pennsylvania, or for station or depot purposes, on such terms as may be agreed on by and between the parties. Provided, that for every one mile of railroad constructed, as authorized by this act, from the city of Erie to the Ohio State line, said Sunbury and Erie Railroad Company shall, at the same time, construct at least three miles of railroad at some point on the route leading eastwardly from the city of Erie, towards the city of Philadelphia. And provided further, that nothing contained in any enactment of the Legislature, whatsoever, shall be construed to authorize the construction of any railroad from the city of Erie to the Ohio State line, to connect with any railroad in said State of Ohio, at the west line of Erie couty, other than the railroad authorized by this act.

☞ The Gazette is pleased to see that the Observer has "cut loose from the car of party," and supports the proposition to lease the public works. When the Gazette "cuts loose from the car of party" we shall be pleased to record the fact, for it will be an item worthy of record. But that day will never come—it sticks to its party, right or wrong, with as much tenacity as a bur to a dirty sheep.

☞ PUTNAM'S LIBRARY.—Number six of Putnam's Semi-Monthly Library, just published, contains "Home Narratives;" being a series of beautiful stories from Dickens' Household Words. The "Library" is for sale at the book store of Durlin & Sloan, No. 9 Brown's New Hotel, State street.

☞ We see it stated that Lola Montez is preparing a series of lectures on the politics and public men of Europe, which will be in direct contrast, in its theories and discriptions, with the recent orations and speeches of Kossuth. Lola Montez claims to be a republican—but not a red republican. We have more faith in Lola than in Kossuth—a good deal.

☞ POST MASTER'S GENERAL HALL'S MAILS.—Post Master General Hall is a Buffalonian, and Mr. Post Master General Hall's mails are like the ice in Buffalo harbor—they come when they have a mind to, and go when they get ready. To say nothing about other matters we have to complain of, we this week received a Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, marked "Erie, via New York," dated Feb. 18,—nearly two months old! Quick work, is'nt it, in these railroad times? By the by, will Mr. Post Master General Hall's organs in Buffalo—he has two we believe—please give that worthy functionary our compliments, and tell him it is our deliberate opinion that, ere the ice leaves Buffalo harbor twice more, the people intend to give him notice to quit.

☞ THERE IS NO ACCOUNTING FOR TASTE.—We see this saying verified every day in the descriptions given in the papers of the "gay Lotharos" who run off with unsophisticated maidens, and tender-hearted married ladies. Here is one of a certain Samuel H. Fields, who recently eloped from Kentucky with a blooming young lass of 18, "slim and handsome" with "blue eyes and black hair." Fields is a married man, and has deserted a wife and four children, is about 5 feet 10 inches in height, with coarse, red features, light hair, hands scarred with the tetter, and the end of the thumb of the right hand cut off. What a young lady with "blue eyes and black hair" could want with such a fright is past our comprehension.

A NORWEGIAN NEWSPAPER.—At Inmansville in Rock county, Wisconsin, is published a paper in the Norse tongue with the title of Americanten, et Nafbangig Demakratisk paper. The object of this publication is to aid in Emigrating the emigrants from Norway.

☞ BLEAK HOUSE.—A foreign correspondent writes to the National Intelligencer, that the "Bleak House" has had the largest sale of any of Mr. Dickens' serials so far. The first impression of twenty-five thousand copies were swept up by the trade at once; twenty thousand were put to press immediately after, which have been nearly disposed of. The April number of Harper's Magazine, which contains the first part of this popular Novel of Dickens', can be found at Durlin & Sloan's Book Store, No. 9, Brown's New Hotel.

☞ BOLDLY SAID.—The Danville (Ky.) Tribune, a zealous Whig organ, seeing so much said of Gen. Scott's popularity, puts in a disclaimer, so far as Kentucky is concerned, and after this order:

"While Gen. Scott is a great military leader, his overgrown vanity, and poor civil qualifications do not entitle him to the suffrages of the American people, for the highest office in their gift. We are not for Scott, with or without a nomination. His nomination would be the death knell of the whig party."

POLITENESS.—The extreme height of politeness was recently exhibited by a sheriff in a neighboring State, who having to hang two men on one gallows, went through the ceremony of introducing them, in order, as he said, that they were under the necessity of traveling out of this world in each other's society, they might do it in a sociable, companiable manner.

ARRIVAL OF THE AFRICA.

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, April, 7—7½ P. M.

The Africa arrived at 7 o'clock with 36 passengers and three days later news.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS, March 26.—The Cotton market has become flat and demand limited. American descriptions closing ⅛ per pound cheaper—lower qualities ¼a½—sales of that week 36,000 bales.

In the Corn market dullness prevails in every article except American flour, of which, induced by its relative cheapness, some parcels were taken at a decline of 3d to 6d per bbl. Sack flour, although dull, continued to be sold at late prices.

In foreign wheat the transactions were small, and English and foreign rather lower, though not pressed for sale.

In Indian Corn scarcely any sales transpired either on the spot or floating.

ENGLAND.—As soon after Easter as possible, the Ministers will consent to the dissolution of Parliament.

The contractor for removing the wreck of the U. S. Steamer Missouri, sunk in the Bay of Gibralter, reports that all the machinery has been removed except the shafts which he intends to hoist early in the spring. Nothing is left of her wood work but the keel and some floor-timbers. There is 18 feet of water over her.

A letter has been received by the Admirality from Biddle House, Detroit, U. S., from Dr. Rea, in which he announces his arrival there after a fruitless search for Sir John Franklin. The farthest point he reached, was 70deg. 30m. north where he was arrested by ice.

At Coppermine river they picked up two pieces of wood—one oak and the other pine. The former was something like a stancheon, having a hole through the upper end, through which a chain had evidently passed.—The piece of pine was evidently the butt end of a flag staff belonging to the British service, having upon it Government marks. It is to be brought to the Admirality for inspection, immediately on the arrival of Dr. R., for whom we may look every day. He has examined about 500 miles of new coast.

Mr Hume moved to bring in a bill to amend the National representation by extending the franchise in England and Wales, to every man of full age and not subject to any mental or legal disability. After an exciting debate the House divided, when there appeared for the motion 89—against it 221—majority against it 155.

FRANCE.—A good deal of speculation is going on in the papers, touching the proceedings of the Legislative Corps, which was to assemble at the Tuielliers on the 29th. It is not considered that the President's opening Address will be of much, if any political importance, and though but a few are in the secret, it is believed it will contain a brief resume of what has been done since the 2nd, a few compliments, congratulations &c.

One thousand political prisoners sent from France, are doomed to be confined in Algiers, 1250 at Oran and 400 at Bona.

The "Patrie" describes them as the agents of Mazzini, and states that they were in deliberation on the late Italian demagogue, when they were arrested. Others state that they were dining at the table d'hote of a restaurant. It appears that 10 or 12 Italians.

Of 64 persons arrested on the 14th, near the Palais Royal, about 40 have already been set at liberty.

AUSTRIA.—A Vienna letter states that the Austrian Government has ordered a severe control to be exercised, in order to prevent the distribution of Bibles which have been sent out to Austria by the London Bible Societies with a view of making proselytes.

JACKSONVILLE, FLORIDA, April 2.

A Whig Convention assembled on the 27th at St. Augustine. A resolution in favor of the Compromise measures as they are, was unanimously adopted. The meeting declared its preference for Millard Fillmore as the whig Presidential candidate, and Wm. H. Graham, of N. C., for Vice President.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.

The returns of the election yesterday, indicate the success of the whole whig ticket, with probable three exceptions. Mr. Kennett is re-elected Mayor by 700 majority.

A disgraceful riot occurred in the First Ward, in which six persons lost their lives, and five or six others were wounded. Shots were fired from the windows of a German house. This house and one or two more, were entirely destroyed after the polls closed.

The Democratic State Convention of Missouri, met at Jefferson City on the 5th. Sixty counties were represented. J. W. Kelly presided.

The several Committees chosen, were composed of Benton and Anti-Benton men. Nothing has yet occurred to disturb the harmony of the Convention.

A fire at Paducah, Ky., occurred on Saturday, which destroyed property to the amount of $100,000 over and above all insurance. The Branch Bank was entirely consumed. The fate of the money &c., in it, is not yet ascertained.

Great Democratic Victory.

TIMES OFFICE, HARTFORD, April 7.

Thomas H. Seymour, Democrat, is elected Governor by the people, over whigs, free soilers, Maine Liquor law, coalitionists and all, by 600 majority.

The Democrats have elected 14 Senators and the whigs 7. In the house the Democrats have 35 majority. On joint ballot they have 42 majority. This secures them a U. S. Senator to fill the present vacancy, caused by the expiration of the term of Roger S. Baldwin on the 4th of March last.

HARTFORD, April 8.

Returns have been received from all but twelve towns. Seymour's majority will not be far from 600.

The Senate stands 15 Democrats, and 6 whigs.

In the House, the Democratic majority is 41.

In joint ballot the Democratic majority is 50.

PROVIDENCE, April 8.

The returns received up to the present time, indicates the election of Phillip Allen, (dem.) for Governor, and Samuel G. Arnold, (whig) Lieutenant Governor.

The Legislature will probably be whig.

LATER—Allen, dem., has between 3 and 400 majority for Governor.

Arnold, whig, is certainly elected Lieutenant Governor.

The whig majority thus far, in the House is 8, in the Senate 2.

STILL LATER.—All the democratic State officers are elected except the Lieut. Governor, for whom there is no election by the people, but the whigs have the Legislature.

RICHMOND, Va., April 7.

The whigs of Henrico county have passed resolutions in favor of the nomination of Mr. Fillmore for President, but pledge their support to any other nominee who is in favor of the Compromise. They also oppose Intervention.

PORTLAND, Me., April 7.

Albion K. Parris, Democrat, is elected Mayor over Neal Dow, whig and Maine Liquor law. The vote stood, for Parris 1890, for Dow 1496. Four Democratic and three whig Alderman are elected, and 12 Democratic councilmen and three whig.

HARRISBURG, April 7.

THE MAIN LIQUOR LAW IN PENNSYLVANIA.—The Maine Liquor Law is the special order of the House. The lobbies are filled with borers from Philadelphia against the bill. A warm debate sprung up on a motion to postpone indefinitely, but it was lost—33 to 63. The motion to commit the bill to a select committee, was lost.—13 to 75.

BALTIMORE, April 8.

The Democratic members of the Maryland Legislature have nominated Gen. Cass as their choice for the Presidency.

HARRISBURGH, April 8.

The House after an animated debate on the Maine Liquor bill, yesterday, voted down a substitute which was offered, 46 to 50. This is considered a test vote, and the probability is that the bill will pass.

The House have finally passed the bill repealing the 9th Section of the Act of 1847, prohibiting the use of the jails of Pennsylvania, for the detention of fugitive slaves—yeas 49, nays 27.

LATER.—The Liquor bill, on coming up for its final passage was defeated—yeas 46, nays 50.

SACKETT'S HARBOR AND SARATOGA RAILROAD.—This enterprise is going forward with a spirit of so important a work. Some time ago the Company deposited in the State Treasury the $5,000 required to secure the pre-emption right of purchasing 250,000 acres of the State lands, through which the road is to pass, at five cents per acre. Since then 100,000 acres of this land has been located by the Directors, and the claim to the same formally deposited with the Commissioners of the Land Office. We now learn that ground is to be broken on the work at Dayanville, Lewis county, on Thursday next, the 8th inst., with appropriate ceremonies.—Albany Eve. Journal.

THE SILVER CURRENCY.—The Senate yesterday ordered to be engrossed for a third reading the bill reported on the 8th inst., by the Committee on Finance, in pursuance of a recommendation of the Secretary of the Treasury, providing for a new silver coinage, in pieces of the denomination of half a dollar and less, to contain a greater portion of alloy than the silver coins now in use. The measure is viewed as one of importance, in order to retain in the country a currency which is so essential in all business transactions. The bill, if it shall pass the House of Representatives, is to go into effect on the first of May next.—Nat. Intelligencer, March 30.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.—These celebrated Bitters prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, 120 Arch street, Philadelphia, are performing astonishing cures throughout the whole country.—We can bear witness to their curative powers in the case of a friend of ours who had the Liver Complaint, and who had tried almost every other medicine, but without effect. After taking a few bottles of these Bitters he was entirely cured. To those who are similarly afflicted we recommend them to take the preparation, knowing that it will cure the disease spoken of, and many others to which "flesh is heir to." There is a spurious article made in Philadelphia. The only place to get the genuine article is 120 Arch street, Philadelphia, of Dr. Jackson, or of his agents throughout the country. 3m41

PETROLEUM.

Chronic Cough Cured.

I TAKE pleasure in certifying to the valuable properties of Mr. Kier's Petroleum, for an affection of the breast and lungs, accompanied with severe pain in the chest, and cough. I took the Petroleum in larger doses than is recommended in the directions. I took a large spoonful three times a day; at first I found it very unpleasant to take but after taking it a few days I got to like it. I should like to have a barrel of it to use in my family, for I believe it to be a valuable medicine. The Petroleum produced no unpleasant feelings whatever in the use of it.

WATER CURE.

"COLD SPRINGS WATER CURE" is situated about a mile north of the city of Buffalo, at the celebrated Cold Springs, (from whence it derives its name,) and at the terminus of the line of Omnibusses on Main Street.

It has been in operation about eighteen months, and the success which has attended the treatment of patients has surpassed the most sanguine expectations of its proprietors. Cures have been performed, which to the patients themselves, to their friends, and to the public, have seemed a little short of miraculous. The proprietors do not wish to encourage those who have been declining in health for years; with instantaneous restoration, but feel entirely safe in saying that water treatment will cure all that can be cured by any other treatment and will succeed in many cases where other measures have failed; and will cure in less time and more comfortable to the patient, and at things considered at much less expense.

The diet is such as is adapted to invalids, and gymnastic exercises suited to the physical condition of each patient, and innocent amusements such as have a tendency to invigorate the constitution are regularly pursued.

The institution is new, commodious, and pleasantly situated, the surrounding scenery beautiful, and all things tending to health and comfort acceptable, and no pains will be spared to render our guests cheerful and contented, while receiving all the advantages of medical and Water appliances. A. Shattuck, M. D. has the Medical charge, assisted by J. H. Tilden, M. D., and Dr. J. L. Acomb, as resident physician, and Doctress M. M. Taylor in the Female Department.

For further particulars address Drs. Shattuck & Tilden, 239, (432, after the first of May next,) Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Money wanted for the Cause of Liberty.

THE Undersigned wishes to free himself from his Creditors and not having the money to do it, he therefore asks all those that know themselves indebted to him to call and pay their respective dues on or before the 15th of April next or costs must be made, a receipt will in all cases be given for the amount received. Erie March 20 1852—45. WM. F. RINDERNECHT.

To the Inhabitants of Harborcreek, North East, Greenfield and all others in Erie County.

TAKE NOTICE!!

WM F. RINDERNECHT of Erie and A. F. Jones of Harborcreek have purchased the entire stock of goods of Messrs. King and Brown at Moorheadville in Harborcreek and intend to continue the mercantile business in all its branches at the old stand of King and Brown, under the name of RINDERNECHT & JONES!!!

In addition to our present Stock we will receive in a few days by Railroad from New York all styles of Dry Goods, Groceries, Crockery, Glass ware, Iron, Steele, Nails, Dye Stuffs, Liquors and everything generally kept in a Grocery and Dry Good Store in any place. Our Motto shall be to sell cheaper than the cheapest. We invite the citizens of the above named townships to call and examine our stock and prices and if we cannot show them as large a stock of goods as some in Erie we can show them a good assortment of everything and at prices that cannot be beat.

Wanted in exchange for goods, Cash, Butter, Eggs, Potatoes, Oats, Corn, Flour, Beans, dried Apples and Peaches, Pork, Hams, &c. &c. March 20, 1852.—45.

N. B.—The above sale of lots is adjourned until April 15th, 1852, where it will take place at the Court House, commencing at 10 o'clock, A. M.

For the Cure of

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION

In offering to the community this celebrated remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs, it is not our wish to trifle with the lives or health of the afflicted, but frankly to lay before them the opinions of distinguished men and some of the evidences of its success, from which they can judge for themselves. We sincerely pledge ourselves to make no wild assertions or false statements of its efficacy, nor will we hold out any hope to suffering humanity which facts will not warrant.

Many proofs are here given, and we solicit an inquiry from the public into all we publish, feeling assured they will find them perfectly reliable, and the medicine worthy their best confidence and patronage.

From the distinguished Professor of Chemistry and Materia Medica, Bowdoin College.

DEAR SIR:—I delayed answering the receipt of your preparation, until I had an opportunity of witnessing its effects in my own family, or in the families of my friends.

This I have now done with a high degree of satisfaction, in cases both of adults and children.

I have found it, as its ingredients show, a powerful remedy for colds, and coughs, and pulmonary diseases.

PARKER CLEAVELAND, M. D.

Brunswick, Me., Feb. 5, 1847.

From an Overseer in the Hamilton Mills, in this City.

LOWELL, Aug. 10, 1849.

Dr. J. C. Ayer:—I have been cured of the worst cough I ever had in my life, by your "Cherry Pectoral," and never fail, when I have opportunity, of recommending it to others.

Yours, respectfully,
S. D. EMERSON.

☞ Read the following, and see if this medicine is worth a trial. This patient had become very feeble, and the effect of the medicine was unmistakably distinct:—

UNITED STATES HOTEL, SARATOGA SPRINGS, July 5, 1849.

Dr. J. C. Ayer,—Sir: I have been afflicted with a painful affection of the lungs, and all the symptoms of settled consumption, for more than a year. I could find no medicine that would reach my case, until I commenced the use of your "Cherry Pectoral," which gave me a gradual relief, and I have been steadily gaining my strength till my health is well nigh restored.

While using your medicine, I had the gratification of curing with it my reverend friend, Mr Truman, of Sumpter District, who had been suspended from his parochial duties by a severe attack of bronchitis.

I have pleasure in certifying these facts to you,
And am, sir, yours respectfully,
J. F. CALHOUN, of South Carolina.

☞ The following was one of the worst cases, which the physicians and friends thought to be incurable consumption:—

CHESTER, PA., Aug. 22, 1846.

J. C. Ayer,—Sir: I was taken with a terrible cough, brought on by a cold, in the beginning of last February, and was confined to my bed more than two months. Coughing incessantly night and day, I became ghastly and pale, my eyes were sunken and glassy, and my breath very short. Indeed, I was rapidly failing, and in such distress for breath, that but little hope of my recovery could be entertained. While in this situation, a friend of mine, (the Rev. John Keller, of the Methodist church) brought me a bottle of your Cherry pectoral, which I tried more to gratify him, than from any expectation of obtaining relief. Its good effect induced me to continue its use, and I soon found my health much improved. Now in three months, I am well and strong, and can attribute my cure only to your great medicine.

With the deepest gratitude, yours &c.,
JAMES GODFREY.

"Secure the Shadow ere the Substance fade."

E. ADELL, the Daguerreian Artist

WOULD respectfully inform the Ladies and Gentlemen of Erie and vicinity that he still continues his rooms over the Erie Bank, for the purpose of delineating the human face divine by means of the beautiful art of the Daguerrotype in the latest and most approved style. He offers to produce the likeness of any person favoring him with a sitting which shall be pronounced by competent judges, superior to the work of any other Artist whatever, for strength, beauty, and life-like appearance.

Daguerreotype, O what delight
To gaze upon its works of light;
How high the polish, pure the tone,
And every face is nature's own;
Sure never Art with all its skill,
The soul with such delight could fill.

His Picture being fixed by the cyanide of gold and other ingredients of his own preparation, can never fade out by exposure to air and light. Those who wish perfect Likenesses will please call at his rooms over the Erie Bank, and examine specimens.—Office hours from 8 o'clock, A. M. to 5 P. M. in all states of the weather. Sheldon's Waterproof Polish, for Boots and Shoes.

A FRESH supply just received at Warren's, No. 1, Wright's Block. This article is attracting the most universal admiration where it has been tested. We can produce testimony of the highest reputation and are confident of yours if you will but give it a fair trial. It surpasses anything ever before offered to the world. It gives a brilliant polish, and is susceptible of oil, and not only keeps out water but preserves the leather and keeps it from cracking. Ladies commend it very highly for Kid and Morocco shoes and Rubbers, adding to a brilliant lustre the virtue of not soiling the whitest linen. It is easily applied and lasts longer than any other Blacking. Try it.

NEW HAT AND CAP STORE!!

THE subscriber, having rented the store in Park Row, two doors west of Williams' & Wright's Exchange Office, lately occupied as a [illegible] Store, by Mr. Stebbins, desires to call the attention of the citizens of Erie [illegible] to his stock of Hats & Caps which he is now opening, direct from Eastern Manufactories. Being a practical Hatter himself, and having taken the utmost pains in the selection of these goods, he is prepared to assure those who purchase of him that they will get the best workmen, and will be warranted equal to any in finish, style and durability to any that can be had in the Eastern cities.

Gentlemen can at all times find here the latest fashions of Wm. H. Beebe & Co's celebrated Hats at New York prices, and Caps of almost every style, quality and price. Also, a good stock of Buffalo Robes.

The subscriber hopes by honorable, fair dealing, to build up his business, as his aim is not to fleece those who patronize him, but make reliable customers.

ARRIVAL OF KOSSUTH.

THE arrival of this patriot in this country is likely to be attended with great enthusiasm and joyful greetings on the part of the American people, and why not? his has been a life devoted to his country, to the cause of liberty—to the elevation of his countrymen—therefore he cannot but be dear to the American people, alive to all that tends to elevate, to improve and to better. But the arrival of Kossuth cannot be hailed with greater joy than can the arrival in this City of Singer's Patent, straight needle, perpendicular action Sewing Machine. This machine is destined to work miracles and cause a great revolution in the clothing business. This machine is the most important and useful invention of the age. It has been used a sufficient length of time to thoroughly be tested upon a great variety of work, and in all cases is fully approved. It operates in the most perfect and satisfactory manner, the work of the following occupations, viz: Tailors, boot, shoe and gaiter manufacturers, harness and saddle makers, shirt makers, Corset makers, Carriage trimmers, sail makers, and hat binders, dress makers, stocking manufacturers, glove makers, cap makers, carpet bag manufacturers, truss makers, whip makers, and upholsters. And may also be used to great advantage in making sails and awnings, beds and matrasses, horse collars, oil clothing, sacking bottoms, and map and chart binding, and indeed for any other purpose where stitching by hand has been required. This machine, which is about twelve inches square, and weighs 65 pounds, is compact, ornamental in form, durable in all its parts, not liable to get out of order, and is easily adjusted and operated. It will perform the labor of from five to ten persons, depending on the kind of work and skill of the operator. The best kind of Tailor's custom work can be executed with it in the best manner, and in making caps, and most other articles to which it is adapted, its work is far superior to that done by hand. The Machine will be constantly on Exhibition and for sale at No. 2, Commercial Exchange, French street, where all persons interested are invited to call, and may be assured of receiving attendance, evidence and perfect ocular demonstration of the great utility and value of this invention. Those wishing to purchase [illegible] are hereby notified that he can sell them [illegible] these, for the most durable and [illegible] and with the [illegible] stitching on, [illegible] manufactured all by hand. A [illegible], which in the ordinary way it would take a workman all day [illegible] can, by the help of the machine, be stitched in half an hour, and in a manner far superior to that done by hand. Therefore, by the aid of this machine, [illegible] enabled to make better work, and at the same time cheaper work than those who manufacture clothing in the ordinary way. To be convinced, give us a call, when the most skeptical can be cured of his skepticism, and the [illegible] doubts cast to the four winds, and all sent on their way rejoicing that clothing can be manufactured so cheap, so durable and so beautiful, as can be done by Singer's Patent Sewing Machine. DR. MARCHISI'S UTERINE CATHOLICON.

THE undersigned, having become agents for this invaluable Medicine, would respectfully invite the attention of the afflicted to the gratifying success that has attended its use wherever introduced, and its happy adaptation to the cure of the distressing diseases for which it is offered.

The CATHOLICON is in truth one of the greatest medical discoveries of the Age, and is destined to become identified with the health and happiness of FEMALES.

This declaration is based upon the fact that it will cure more than nine tenths of a class of very prevalent diseases, known as

and which have heretofore resisted the skill and exertions of the most accomplished Physicians of all countries, to a degree beyond that of almost every other malady to which the human family is heirs. It has already received the approbation and liberal patronage of [illegible] eminent members of the Medical Faculty in the United States, willing to shone the truth, and having due regard for the welfare of their patients, and is in every way worthy the confidence of the afflicted as A SUCCESSFUL, SAFE, and CHEAP REMEDY. Of this, additional proof will be found in the pamphlet, to which the attention of Ladies and Practitioners is respectfully invited.

This medicine has never been introduced by empty puffs and misrepresentations, nor is it intended that its present popularity shall be sustained by any means but its merits and the approbation of the public. The CATHOLICON is not a "cure all," but is intended expressly for those complaints incidental to the female, whether married or single—PROLAPSUS UTERI or falling of the Womb, FLUOR ALBUS, or Whites; CHRONIC INFLAMMATION and ULCERATION OF THE WOMB; INCIDENTAL HEMORRHAGE, or Flooding; PAINFUL, SUPPRESSED AND IRREGULAR MENSTRUATION, &c., with all their accompanying evils, (Cancer excepted,) no matter how severe, or how long standing.

DR. LA CROIX'S PRIVATE MEDICAL TREATISE, entitled, A Physiological View of Marriage—a popular treatise on the secret infirmities of youth and maturity, arising from genital diseases in both sexes, with upwards of 125 colored and plain lithographs and engravings, illustrating the Anatomy, Physiology, and Diseases of the Sexual Organs, their structures, uses and functions, and the various injuries produced in them by solitary habits, excesses and infection, causes, symptoms and baneful effects of Venereal diseases, together with plain directions for the perfect cure of syphilis, gleet, strictures, &c., without mercury. To which are [illegible] every extensive practical observations on Seminal Debility, arising from nocturnal seminal emissions, or constitutional weakness, and the attendant sympathies. The whole illustrated by striking cases from Dr. La Croix's private practice. The reproductive organs of females illustrated. Menstruation, irregularities [illegible] the Menses, and their remedies, by M. B. La Croix, M. D., Graduate of the Medical Department of the Northern University—Member of the Hospital [illegible] Vera Cruz, Lucas Correspondent of the Reformed School of Medicine, and member of the Medical Society, &c. &c.

TREATMENT OF SEXUAL DISEASES.

CAUTION.

In this book the cure of every private disease is minutely described, with their symptoms, and how to distinguish one from another—with receipts for the remedies, their management, &c., in plain language. It enables every one to successfully and privately treat his case, thereby avoiding the impositions daily practiced by quacks on the ignorant, or to judge if proper treatment. Young men who have been unfortunate in contracting disease, previous to placing themselves under the care of any doctor, no matter what his pretensions may be, get a copy of this truly useful work first, as it exposes the trickery and imposture practised by quacks who advertise to cure private diseases in the public newspapers. Sold by the author, who may be consulted upon any of the diseases of which it treats. Any person sending 25 cents enclosed in a letter (post paid) will receive one copy of this book by mail, or five copies for $1. Address Dr. M. B. La Croix, or box 1000, P. O., Buffalo, N. Y. Also for sale by the author, No. 36, Beaver st. P. L. Gilbert, near the Museum, Albany, N. Y.

FEMALE COMPLAINT.

Falling of the Womb, Gonorrhoea or Whites, Obstructed, Excessive, Irregular or painful Menses, Dropsy of the Womb.

Dr. La Croix is often consulted upon young and innocent females who have had their health injured for years by pills and nostrums purchased from celebrated female impostors, under the false pretence of effecting cures—those medicines in nineteen cases of twenty have an injurious effect upon the constitution, without producing the desired effect, or any signs of it. Ladies who wish for no failures, the efficacy of which has been tested in thousands of cases, and never failed to effect speedy cures without any bad results, will use none but which are the result of the combined knowledge and experience of some of the oldest and most distinguished physicians of Europe, and have been used by females composing most of the gentility and nobility of France for the last 25 years. To enlarge their virtues would not add to their merits. The only precaution necessary to be observed is, ladies should not take them if they have reason to believe that they are in certain situations (the particulars of which will be mentioned in the wrappers accompanying each box,) though always safe and healthy, so gently, yet so active are they.

Price $1 per box. they can be transmitted by mail to any part of the Union.

[illegible] one annoyed, however injurious their cases may appear, or whatever their disease may be, or however many physicians or remedies they have tried, to put his knowledge and skill to the test in an examination of their case—it will cost them nothing. He promises to every case he treats a permanent and radical cure for life.

The Dispensary is so arranged that the person so calling will see no one but the doctor himself, who is in constant attendance in his private rooms, ready and willing to render relief to all who may give him a call. Hundreds of certificate voluntarily given to cures, some of which are most astonishing cases on record, are for inspection at the Dispensary, all which are by his medicines.

$50 FORFEIT.

DR. HUNTER will forfeit $50, if failing to cure any case of disease that may come under his care, no matter how long standing or afflicting. Either sex are invited to his Private Rooms, 38, North SEVEN TH Street, Philadelphia, without fear of interruption from other patients. Strangers and others who have been unfortunate in the selection of a physician are invited to call. Those who have injured themselves by solitary vice are also invited.

READ AND REFLECT.—The afflicted would do well to reflect before trusting their health, happiness, and in many cases their lives, to the [illegible] of this class of cases. It is certainly impossible for one man to understand all the ills the human family are subject to. Every respectable physician has his peculiar branch, in which he is more successful than his brother professors, and to that he devotes most of his time and study.

YEARS OF PRACTICE, exclusively devoted to the study and treatment of diseases of the sexual organs, together with ulcers upon the body, throat, nose or legs, pains in the head or bones, mercurial rheumatism, strictures, gravel, irregularities, disease arising from youthful excess, or impurities of the Blood, whereby the constitution has become enfeebled, enables the Doctor to offer speedy relief to all who may place themselves under his care.

ON THE CASH SYSTEM.

Having Tried it, We find it Works Well.

BELIEVING the Cash System, the only true system of doing business, the undersigned has adopted it, and finds it works well both for himself and customers, as it has enabled him to purchase his

FALL AND WINTER STOCK

at extremely low rates, consequently he will be able to furnish his customers and the public at corresponding prices. All in want of anything in his line are respectfully invited to examine his elegant assortment of Clothing! Cloths and Cassimeres!

Consisting of Black, Blue Black, Brown, Green and Drab Broadcloths, and Cassimeres of various patterns. Also:

Silk, Satin, Worsted & Wollen Vests & Vesting!

All of which were purchased in New York for CASH, and are now offered as cheap, at least, as at any other establishment in town.

He does not deem it necessary to tell those who have for so long a series of years patronized him that he continues to manufacture as

FASHIONABLE AND NEAT FITTING

Garments as can be found in this market, but to new customers he has no hesitation in saying that if they will

CALL AND SEE FOR THEMSELVES,

They will not go away dissatisfied with either

Goods, Workmanship or Prices.

Custom work always done at reasonable prices, and warranted. Also cutting warranted, if properly made up. Call and see if "old things have not become new" at the old stand of the subscriber.

CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, AND VESTINGS.

Which he will make up to order on the shortest notice and in the most fashionable style. Gentlemen leaving their measures for any garment can depend on having it when promised, and if not satisfied they will not be asked to take it away.

Ready Made Clothing.

We have on hand and continue to make a very superior lot of Ready Made Clothing, which we can recommend to those in want, and would invite our friends and the public to call and examine Goods, Prices and Make; and to those not judges we say bring along some one to judge for you, and we know you will be satisfied that we have the Best Goods in the City!

This we boast of and invite comparison. Also, a nice lot of White and Fancy Shirts, Drawers and Undershirts, Suspenders, Stocks and Stock Cravats, which we bought very low, and will sell as cheap as the cheapest.

We would return our thanks to the Public for past favors, and be pleased to see all our old customers and as many new ones as can make it convenient to give us a call at No. 8, Reed House.

DR. HOOFLAND'S

CELEBRATED GERMAN BITTERS,

PREPARED BY

DR. C. M. JACKSON,

AT THE GERMAN MEDICINE STORE,

120, Arch Street, Philadelphia,

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled—if equalled—by any other preparation in the United States as the cures attest, in many cases after skillful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching powers in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are withal, safe, certain and pleasant.

READ AND BE CONVINCED,

From the "Boston Bee."

The editor said, Dec. 22nd—

Dr. Hoofland's Celebrated German Bitters for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day. These Bitters have been used by thousands, and a friend at our elbow says he has himself received an effectual and permanent cure of Liver Complaint from the use of this remedy. We are convinced that, in the use of these Bitters, the patient constantly gains strength and vigor—a fact worthy of great consideration. They are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be used by persons with the most delicate stomachs with safety, under any circumstances. We are speaking from experience, and to the afflicted we advise their use.

"SCOTT'S WEEKLY," one of the best Literary papers published, said, Aug. 25—

"DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the faculty as an article of much efficacy in cases of female weakness. As such is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitated constitutions will find these Bitters advantageous to their health, as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems."

MORE EVIDENCE.

The "Philadelphia Saturday Gazette," the best family newspaper in the United States. The editor says of

DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

"It is seldom that we recommend what are termed Patent Medicines, to the confidence and patronage of our readers; and therefore when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are noised about for a brief period and then forgotten after they have done their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally prized, and which has met the hearty approval of the faculty itself."

Evidence upon evidence has been received (like the foregoing) from all sections of the Union, the last three years, and the strongest testimony in its favor, is, that there is more of it used in the practice of the regular Physicians of Philadelphia, than all other nostrums combined, a fact that can easily be established, and fully proving that a scientific preparation will meet with their quiet approval when presented even in this form.

That this medicine will cure Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia no one can doubt after using it as directed. It acts specifically upon the stomach and liver; it is preferable to calomel in all bilious diseases—the effect is immediate. They can be administered to female, or infants, with safety and reliable benefit at any time.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

This medicine has attained that high character which is necessary for all medicines to attain, to induce counterfeiters to put forth spurious articles at the risk of the lives of those who are innocently deceived.

Look well to the marks of the Genuine

They have the written signature of C. M. JACKSON upon the wrapper, and his name blown in the bottle without which they are spurious.

TAILORING.

GRAHAM & FERRIER would respectfully inform their friends and the public generally that they have rented the shop lately occupied by John Goulding in Reed's Block, opposite the Bonnell Block, State Street, where they will be found at all times ready to execute all orders entrusted to them with neatness and dispatch. The merits of Graham as a Cutter is too well known to require any puffing at this time, and they would only say that he will superintend that branch of the business. Ferrier although comparatively a stranger is well known to all who have employed him, to be a first rate workman. With these qualifications they hope to give entire satisfaction to those who may favor them with their work. They will pay particular attention to the cutting and making of all styles of Boy's garments, (a branch heretofore too much neglected by the trade in this city.) As they will be in the receipt of the monthly fashions from the East, they will be enabled to keep pace with every new mode of improvements as they come out. Naval and Military garments made to order.

Cutting done with care for others to make up, and done when promised, at the usual prices.

THE GREAT SECRET AT LAST DISCOVERED FOR THE CURE OF CONSUMPTION!!

NEW SYSTEM AND NEW REMEDIES! TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS.

NUTTALL'S SYRIACUM.

THE Cure for Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Tickling in the Throat, Spitting Blood, Difficult Breathing, Bronchitis, Incipient, Confirmed, and Tubercular Consumption. IN THREE BOTTLES. Each one peculiarly adapted to each one of the three stages of

CONSUMPTION.

FIRST STAGE
INCIPIENT
CONSUMPTION.
In Blue Wrappers.

SYMPTOMS.

Cough, pain in the breast, side, head, back, joints, and limbs, inflammation, soreness, and tickling in the throat, fever, difficult and quick breathing, expectoration difficult, slight, and frothy.

SECOND STAGE
CONFIRMED
CONSUMPTION,
In Pink Wrappers.

SYMPTOMS.

Costiveness, spasmodic cough, violent fever, night, morning, and mid-day sweats, hectic flush in the face, and cheeks, burning heat in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, expectoration easy, copious, and streaked with blood.

THIRD STAGE
TUBERCULAR
CONSUMPTION.
In Yellow Wrappers.

SYMPTOMS.

Diarrhoea, diminished fever, cough, and morning sweats, great and increasing debility, frequent fainting fits, slight delirium, and swelling of the extremities.

TO THE AFFLICTED. The appearance in Three Bottles of Nuttall's Syriacum is a new Era in Medicine, from its novelty and direct opposition to the old

ABSURD AND INCONSISTENT ONE BOTTLE SYTSEM:

While its success, prepared in this manner, (Each Bottle containing a different preparation) in curing the different stages which characterize Consumption, has established the Welcome truth of the curability of Every Stage of Pulmonary Consumption.

PHYSICIANS APPROVE OF IT, because it is based upon correct Physiological and Pathological principles. The Public approve of it, because it is common sense, and because they know from sad experience, that one preparation will not cure the three stages of Consumption. The suffering, disappointed, and discouraged invalid approves of it, because its principles hold out a reason-able Hope, and when he uses Nuttall's Syriacum, his hopes are realized.

IF HE IS IN THE FIRST STAGE OF CONSUMPTION

and uses the First Bottle, his expectoration, difficult and painful, becomes free and easy. His Cough soon gets well, the soreness, tickling in his throat, inflammation, pain in his breast, side, head, back, joints, and limbs are removed.

IF HE IS IN THE SECOND STAGE

and uses the second bottle, his fever leaves him, his hectic flushed cheeks become sweet and refreshing, his night sweats vanish his expectoration, copious and bloody, assumes a healthy appearance, and at length disappears, his bowels become regular, his appetite returns, the flush in his cheek disappears, the burning heat in the palms of his hands and soles of the feet, are felt no longer, his cough now ceases. He recovers and is well.

IF HE IS IN THE THIRD STAGE,

and uses the third bottle, his Diarrhoea gradually ceases, his weak bowels become strong, his cough and other bad symptoms disappear, feeble digestion becomes strong and vigorous, his stomach recovers its proper tone, and creates a new, rich, and nourishing blood his strength returns, his wasted body is clothed with flesh, HIS LIFE IS SAVED! and he is

RESTORED TO HEALTH.

Each bottle of Nuttall's Syriacum has the symptoms of the stage for which it is intended printed in front of the wrapper, whereby every invalid knowing his own symptoms, can judge for himself IN WHICH BOTTLE HE REQUIRES. Consequently no mistake can occur in selecting THE PROPER MEDICINE.

See Pamphlet in possession of the Editor of this Paper, containing Dr. Nuttall's Pathology of Consumption, Lectures on the Structure and uses of the Human Lungs, and certificates of CURES. Prepared only by Dr. Nuttall, Inventor and Proprietor. Price. $1 per Bottle.

Erie, Nov. 1, 1851 —25 A. & J. S. WALTERS.

Pennock's Seed and Grain Planter.

Patented March, 1841—Re-issued Oct '49.

THIS MACHINE operates equally well on all kinds of land, and is not injured by coming in contact with rocks, roots, &c. It will plant point rows and all irregular shaped fields, without planting any part twice over. Will a saving of from ten to fifteen per cent. in labor, it will, with two horses, plant from 10 to 12 acres per day of wheat, oats, barley, and other small grain; and with one man and horse it will readily plant from 15 to 20 acres per day of Indian corn, beans, peas, &c. It will save from 2 to 3 pecks of seed per acre, and yield from 15 to 20 per cent more than the broad cast seeding, by distributing the grain uniformly, at any desired depth, and leaving a ridge of earth between the rows. The roots of the young plants are protected during the winter by the action of the frost and rain mouldering the earth upon them instead of being thrown out and exposed as in broad cast. On this account the stock is stronger and less subject to mildew, and is not so liable to injury by the fly. The farmer is frequently prevented by rain from harrowing in his grain after it is sown, which harrowing is not needed in seeding with this machine, as it completes the work at once. The first premiums have been awarded to this valuable machine by the New York and Philadelphia Agricultural Societies. Machines and rights can be had on application to Gideon Swayne, Pittsburgh, Pa.—I will give $100 for what wheat this machine will gain in yield in planting fifty acres. I caution the public against infringing upon my patent, under the penalty of the law made and provided. The subscriber thankful for past favors, respectfully solicits a continuation of public patronage. Letters post paid and addressed to GIDEON SWAYNE, Pittsburgh, Pa., will meet prompt attention.

M'CORMICK'S CELEBRATED MOWING AND REAPING MACHINE.

This machine for which the great medal was awarded at the World's Fair, is warranted to cut one and a fourth acres of grass of all kinds per hour, and to do its work as well and as close to the ground on smooth land as ordinary mowing; and it will cut one and a half acres of wheat or other small grain per hour, and will save three-fourths of wheat scattered by ordinary cradling. ERIE DAGUERREAN GALLERY,

Park Row, a few doors West of the REED HOUSE.

SHERMAN is happy to invite all who wish DAGUERREOTYPE LIKENESSES, who are at all particular what kind of pictures they have, to his new Rooms which have been built expressly for the Art. LIGHT is the great agent of the Artist, and it has been the constant study of all worthy of the name since the Art was discovered, to employ and control it in the manner best adapted to produce the most favorable results. The result of this study and of thousands of experiments is that there is not a respectable permanent Gallery in the U. States where the pictures are made by a common window, and he who says he can produce superior pictures by such a window proves his ignorance of the Art. The subscriber therefore begs leave to say that by his superior LIGHT, and with an apparatus worth six times any other in this city, he is enabled to produce pictures which cannot be equalled in this part of the country, and offers to excell any thing which can be produced in other rooms in Erie, or forfeit one hundred dollars. He has also a splendid Quick Working Camera, with which he takes children of any age! Let it be distinctly understood his pictures will not fade if properly kept.

N. B.—The "recent improvements" may be seen at the above rooms. W. H. SHERMAN.

AFFLICTED READ!!!

PHILADELPHIA MEDICAL HOUSE!

ESTABLISHED FIFTEEN YEARS AGO, BY

DR. KINKELIN.

North West Corner of Third and Union Streets, between Spruce and Pine Streets, Philadelphia

FIFTEEN YEARS of extensive and uninterrupted practice spent in this city, have rendered Dr. K. the most expert and successful practitioner far and near, in the treatment of all diseases of a private nature. Persons afflicted with ulcers upon the body, throat, or legs, pains in the head or bones, mercurial rheumatism, strictures, gravel, disease arising from youthful excesses or impurities of the blood, whereby the constitution has become enfeebled, are all treated with success.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. K. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.—Young Men who have injured themselves by a certain practice indulged in—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school—the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and destroy both mind and body, should apply immediately. Weakness and constitutional debility, loss of muscular energy, physical lassitude and general prostration, irritability and all nervous affections, indigestion, sluggishness of the liver, and every disease in any way connected with the procreative functions cured, and full vigor restored.

READ! YOUTH AND MANHOOD

A VIGOROUS LIFE OR PREMATURE DEATH.
KINKELIN ON SELF-PRESERVATION.
ONLY 25 CENTS.

This Book just published is filled with useful information on the infirmities and diseases of the generative organs. It addresses itself alike to Youth, Manhood, and Old Age, and should be read by all. The valuable advice and impressive warning it gives, will prevent years of misery and suffering, and save annually Thousands of Lives. Parents, by reading it, will learn how to prevent the destruction of their children.

A remittance of 25 cents, enclosed in a letter, addressed to Dr. KINKELIN, N. W. Corner of Third and Union streets, between Spruce and Pine, Philadelphia, will ensure a book, under envelope, per return mail.

Persons at a distance may address Dr. K. by letter, enclosing a fee, and be cured at home.

Packages of Medicines, Directions, &c. forwarded, by sending a remittance, and put up secure from Damage or Curiosity.

Book-sellers, News Agents, Pedlars, Canvassers, and all others supplied with the above work at very low rates. 1y10
